GAS COMPANY PLANS TO SPEND $150,000 ON LINES HERE

Number of Improvements to Be Made; Unmixed Natural Gas in Local Mains

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars in general betterments will be spent by the Southern California Gas company in Glendale at once, according to announcements made late yesterday afternoon by W. R. Phelon, local manager.

He also stated that on July 1 new rates would be effective as Glendale consumers would then be getting unmixed natural gas of increased heat units, as ordered by the state railroad commission yesterday. The British thermal units (measurement of heat) will be increased a third, from 750 to 1000. This, Mr. Phelon says, will make cooking with gas much more economical than at present.

Increase in Rates

The rates will be increased from $1 to 85 cents a thousand for the first 5000 feet, 10,000 at 75, 35,000 at 65 and all over 60,000 at 60 cents per thousand. The natural product comes from the Midway oil and gas fields, situated in Kern county. It is stated that this change is made possible by a new pipe line recently built through the western part of the city.

And then to adequately supply the fast-growing sections of the city, a four-inch main will be installed on Kenneth Road, a six-inch main from Doran street north on San Fernando Road to Sonora avenue, where a new four-inch main will carry the supply across Sonora to the new Kenneth Road main.

To Better Pressure

There also will be a big eight-inch cross-town main from San Fernando Road to Verdugo Road on Doran street and Lexington Drive for the general betterment of the pressure in all parts of the city, according to Mr. Phelon. He says that these improvements practically parallel the "backbone" of the city's water system.

Mr. Phelon has seen the city grow to its present proportions, being a native son of this vicinity. He "set" the first meter in the city of Los Angeles for the Southern California Gas company and he has seen the Glendale district grow from nothing at all to 8,000 meters with 200 installations a month.

Sunday School Folk Attend Training Course

At the regular session of the training school for Sunday school workers at the Christian church Wednesday night, approximately 100 were in attendance.

Miss Ethel Johnson of Alhambra, who specializes in children's work, was an interesting speaker in the junior department, of which Mrs. C. A. Cole is director.

Mrs. Pearl Gentry of Los Angeles gave a practical demonstration of sloyd work, in the primary department.

A special feature at the general assembly, which follows the class hour, was an address on music by Mrs. Edgar Lloyd Smith, talented vocalist, who recently moved to Glendale from Los Angeles. Her talk was especially on grade work, in the different departments, pertaining to the Sunday school, and was given with interesting vocal demonstrations.

Mrs. E. S. McKee Again Colorado P.-T. A. Head

At the regular meeting of the Colorado Street Parent-Teacher association, held at the school yesterday with the president, Mrs. E. S. McKee, in charge, the following report was made by the nominating committee of officers for the ensuing year:

Mrs. E. S. McKee, president; Mrs. Maurice Burke, vice-president; Mrs. Bine Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. D. W. Brant, treasurer; Mrs. L. F. Lewis, historian. These officers will be installed at the June meeting of the association.

The program at yesterday's meeting included the "P.-T. A. Song," by a group of four girls from the school, Virginia Woodard, Mildred Lewis, Bernice Smith and Mary Claire Morgan. A very interesting talk on "Child Hygiene" was given by Mrs. Townsend Clark, Glendale federation chairman of Child Hygiene.

New Flag Is Raised at Broadway School

A beautiful new flag was raised Thursday morning at the Broadway school, of which Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan is principal. At 9 o'clock, the entire school assembled on the grounds, while the flag, carried by six small girls and an equal number of boys, all from the primary grade, was borne down the front steps of the building and across the intervening space to the foot of the pole, where the larger pupils assisted. After the flag salute, by the school, it was sent slowly aloft to be unfurled by the breeze, with a great deal of applause from the children who were quite impressed by the ceremony. The exercises closed with the singing of "America."

Adventist Academy Graduates Hear Inspiring Message From Elder Philip Knox Last Night

PICTURING THE SURPASSING GLORIES of Yosemite from the top of Half Dome after a hard, glorious climb, Elder Philip Knox, at the Seventh-day Adventist church last night, drove home to the graduating class of Glendale Academy the lesson of their motto, "Onward and Upward."

Though exhausted by the toil of climbing the last 1500 feet by the aid of a rope up which they drew themselves hand-over-hand, he and a very few of the many who made the attempt stood on the topmost point of the great Half Dome mountain in Yosemite valley, and felt the thrill of success that comes from attainment after a supreme effort.

Mr. Knox is a brilliant young orator of Los Angeles, and he set before his large audience such a scene as to inspire red-blooded American youth

State President of Y. L. I. Visits Here

A special meeting of the members of Ramona Institute, Y. L. I., of which Mrs. Frank Salmacia is president, was called Wednesday night at the I. O. O. F. hall to greet the state president of the organization, Miss Anna Burgess of Alameda, who is making her official visit in the southern part of the state. The state president inspected the local institute and complimented the officers on the splendid work being done. Ramona institute now has a membership of about twenty-five. At the close of the evening refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served and the state president was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Music Club Meeting Next Tuesday Night

The regular meeting and monthly concert of the Glendale Music club, of which Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is president, will be held at the high school auditorium Tuesday night, May 9, instead of tonight. At that time the program will be given by members of the Burbank Choral club, assisted by solo artists. This will be in the nature of an exchange program, as the local club is planning to send several of their artists to put on a program at Burbank in the near future.

Mrs. Jones, who, during the past year served as first vice president of the California federation of music clubs, returned yesterday from the state convention in San Francisco. Mrs. Jones had the honor of being nominated as a candidate for president of the state federation and was endorsed by many of the music clubs in Southern California as well as some in San Francisco and vicinity. The other nominee, Mrs. Lillian Birmingham, who was a resident of San Francisco, was the successful candidate, having been elected by the small majority of seven votes over Mrs. Jones.

F. H. Parker Family at Greenlaw Home

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Parker and two children, Helen and Frank H., Jr., of Chicago, arrived in Glendale yesterday and are visiting at the R. N. Greenlaw home, 621 North Geneva street, while getting settled here. Mr. Parker has been with the International Harvester company at the Windy City. They think Glendale is the prettiest place they ever have seen.

Presbyterian Church Greets New Members

The quarterly reception for new members, who have been received into the congregation since last January and publicly received into the church last Sunday, was held from 8 to 10 o'clock last night at the Presbyterian church.

H. L. Finlay of 330 West Doran street was in charge last night. The program had been arranged by W. A. Horn of 221 North Louise street and was as follows: Piano solo, Mrs. N. E. Houston; readings by Mrs. D. C. Reynolds, 907 East Wilson avenue; solos by Samuel Glass of the Orpheum Male Quartette; cornet and piano selection by Mrs. G. F. Snyder, 324 North Isabel street, and Miss Isabel Spear, 124 North Belmont street; duet by Mrs. Collins of Los Angeles; by Alex McDougall, son of H. C. McDougall of 128 West Elk, who appeared in full Scottish costume.

The welcome to the new members was extended by W. E. McCormick, 529 North Jackson street, and the response was given by Mrs. C. M. L. Nelson, 830 East Harvard street. After refreshments were served an hour was spent socially.

Must Muzzle Dogs, City Council Orders

Glendale dogs must be muzzled. The City Council last night unanimously announced this edict which will go into effect immediately.

The provisions of the local ordinance provide that dogs must be kept off the streets. Any dog found outside of an enclosed yard is liable to be picked up by members of the police department and "extinguished from life" at the discretion of the health department.

The passage of this ordinance has been insisted upon by the state health department. At a recent conference, local authorities were urged to take up the matter at once to avoid the necessity of the state placing a quarantine on the whole county.

H. V. Adams Speaker Before Kiwanis Club

The regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club was held today at the Chamber of Commerce, at which time permanent committees were appointed for the year. The speaker of the hour was H. V. Adams, a former resident of Glendale, but now located at Lomita. There were a number of guests present and several new names were presented for membership.

SPLENDID CONCERT GIVEN TO ASSIST BUSINESS CLUB

Girard-La Bonti Quartet in Pleasing Program; Audience Shows Appreciation

An unusual treat was afforded the people of Glendale last night at the splendid concert given in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium by the Girard-La Bonti quartet, who at that time presented a lyrical idyl, "The Trend of Time" and classical selections under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Glendale. This was the last of a series of three entertainments given by that organization for the purpose of securing funds for financing the rest rooms which have been established at 209 1/2 South Brand boulevard, and which also serves as a luncheon place for members and their guests.

"The Trend of Time" was composed for four solo voices, with piano accompaniment, by Harry Girard in the year 1900, and has been heard with great success since that time both in this country and abroad.

The four solo parts were taken by Agnes Cain-Brown (Mrs. Harry Girard), soprano; Madame La Bonti, contralto; Harry Girard, basso cantante; Henri La Bonti, tenor; Homer Simmons at the piano. "The Trend of Time" signifies the twelve months in the year, the idea being to give color to each month of the year in seasons, such as November hunting, May, sailing; January, beginning of the year; December, close of the year, and so forth.

Program Well Presented

The first number on the program was a solo by Harry Girard, "Dio Possente" from "Faust" (Gounod). This was followed by a splendid group of piano selections by Homer Simmons, who played "Etude in F Major" (Bortkiewicz), "London Bridge" (Balfour Gardiner) and "D Flat Etude" (Liszt). Henri La Bonti, next presented a group of exceptionally fine vocal numbers, "She Rested by the Broken Brook" (Samuel C. Taylor), and "On the Road to Mandalay" (Oley Speaks). Mr. Taylor is one of the two negroes who have attained international prominence musically.

The first portion of the program concluded with a duet by Mr. Girard and Mr. La Bonti, "La Forza del Destino" (Verdi). The second portion of the program was given over to the presentation of "The Trend of Time" by the quartet.

Last night's program is one which will long be remembered by the 125 or more music lovers who availed themselves of hearing this splendid quartet, each member of which has wonderful ability as a soloist, as well as ensemble singing.

First Inning Fatal to Glendale Faculty

By scoring five runs in the first inning, the Pasadena high school football team, composed entirely of instructors of that institution, yesterday afternoon defeated a similarly composed squad from the local school by a 5 to 2 score. The contest was played on the Pasadena diamond and was attended by several hundred students of both schools, it being difficult to decide whether they were "for" or "against" their teachers.

The only regret of the local team members was that the first inning could not be removed from the official baseball score. An attempt was made by several of the Black and Red players to have the fatal opening round declared as a "practice inning," but an insufficient amount of diplomacy was used and the project fell through.

"Cannonball" Smith, who started on the mound for Glendale, was greeted from the first by a fusillade of base knocks that soon sent him muttering to the showers. Although "Invincible" Hayhurst held the opposing batsmen to a "good egg" for the remaining six innings, his efforts were to no avail, his teammates being unable to score the necessary five runs.

"Nucoa" Butterfield, who coached this year's high school team in the Central league, starred at bat for the locals with a trio of base hits, one of which was a home run over the center fielder's head.

A return game between the two teams will be staged next Thursday afternoon on the local diamond.

Following is the lineup of the Glendale faculty team, the nicknames "hung on" the various instructors' monikers by a group of revenue-seeking students: "Nucoa" Butterfield, catcher; "Cannonball" Smith and "Invincible" Hayhurst, pitchers; "Stonewall" Miller, first base; "Ty" Lockwood, second base; "Babe" Nord, third base; Hayhurst and Smith, shortstop; "Dixie" Fuller, left field; "Homerun" Webb, center field; "Lefty" Brown, right field.

PARKING ORDINANCE STICKS

Another effort was made to repeal the parking ordinance at the city council meeting last night, but failed through lacking one vote. Councilman S. A. Davis moved that the parking provisions be taken from the ordinance and Councilman C. E. Kimlin seconded it. Councilmen Dwight W. Stephenson and A. H. Lapham and Mayor Spencer Robinson voted them down.

Today's World News In Brief

(By International News Service to Glendale Evening News)

MURDERER GOES TO ELECTRIC CHAIR WITH SMILE
McALESTER, Okla., May 5.—Sam Watson, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Clara Jones of Caney, went to his death in the electric chair early today with a smile on his lips. "Good-bye, boys, I'll meet you in heaven," he said with a laugh, as they strapped him in.

TEN NOW DEAD IN TEXAS TWISTER; LOSS OVER $500,000
AUSTIN, Tex., May 5.—The list of dead in the tornado which struck this city in two sections late yesterday had grown to ten today. Five persons were probably fatally injured and forty others were in hospitals with injuries. Damage done by the storm was estimated at over $500,000.

CHINA'S CIVIL WAR AT END AS WU PEI FU WINS PEKING
PEKING, May 5.—China's civil war is believed today to be at an end. General Wu Pei Fu, commander of the military forces of the central provinces, controls Peking. His adversary, General Chang Tso-Lin, military governor of Manchuria, is in flight towards Mukden and his army is shattered. General Wu heads the Chih-li party.

TALKATIVE JURORS MAY BE UNSEATED IN SMALL TRIAL
COURT HOUSE, WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 6.—Two affidavits by members of the tentative jury in the case of Governor Len Small, charged with conspiracy to embezzle, declaring the jurors had discussed the charges against Small "while in the jury room," were presented in court at the opening of the trial today by State Attorney Mortimer. Mortimer moved that the jurors be unseated. The jurors involved are Robert Fagon and Charles Melville.

SENATE TO HAVE BONUS BILL READY WITHIN A WEEK
WASHINGTON, May 5.—The long delayed soldiers' bonus bill will be reported from the senate finance committee and laid before the senate within a week, it was announced in the senate today by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the committee chairman. Senator McCumber predicted that the house measure as revised by him would be passed "within a day or two," after it reaches the senate, the tariff bill being pushed aside to make way for the speedy enactment of the compensation legislation.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS CONDEMN KU KLUX KLAN
SACRAMENTO, May 5.—In a resolution condemning the Ku Klux Klan as an organization "which endangers the principles upon which this country is founded," Sacramento post, veterans of foreign wars, announced, that, as former soldiers, they are ready to take up arms if necessary to combat the Klan and its acts of violence. The resolution states: "As it was with the vigilantes of old, let it be today. Let no man assume a mask to redress a wrong. Let us as citizens fight in the open for law and order if it should be necessary."

ESCAPED MURDERER IS PICKED UP IN SEATTLE STREETS

SEATTLE, Wash., May 5.—Recognized on the street here as an escaped life term from the Illinois state prison at Joliet, John B. Koettters was arrested and lodged in the county jail late yesterday. He will be held for Illinois officers, who were notified of his capture, by Captain of Detectives Charles E. Tennant. Koettters admitted that he was an escaped convict after a session with Tennant. He was convicted of murdering Mrs. Emma Kraft in the Saratoga hotel in Chicago in 1921, following his arrest in San Francisco in 1919. He served three months in the penitentiary and then escaped.

SEVEN KILLED IN IRISH BATTLE FOLLOWING TRUCE

DUBLIN, May 5.—Disorders died down in Ireland as a result of the truce between the free staters and the republicans, but a tense situation exists. It is feared fighting will continue despite the armistice. Seven persons—four republicans and three free staters—were killed in a battle at Newton Cunningham in consequence of a mistake. The free staters, knowing that a truce had been negotiated, halted a party of republicans to apprise them of the fact. The republicans, not knowing of the armistice, opened fire. The free staters returned the fire and a pitched battle developed. Several were wounded in addition to the killed.

BUSINESS SECTION OF TRUCKEE IS GUTTED BY FIRE

TRUCKEE, Cal., May 5.—The business section of this city is in ruins today as a result of a disastrous fire which swept over a wide area last night. The damage was estimated at $250,000. A list of buildings totally destroyed follows: Cobona Auto Supplies, Rossarine Drygoods store, J. Lewis' general store, Vassarini grocery store, residence of A. C. Rossarine, residence of Dr. L. Bernard, post-office and telephone office. The conflagration broke out in the telephone office shortly after 5 o'clock and spread through the business section. An exploding oil tank filled the gutters with burning oil, which ignited wooden sidewalks in all parts of the town.

INTER-ALLIED WAR DEBTS USED AS CLUB ON FRENCH

GENOA, May 5.—Inter-allied war debts today loomed up as the club with which Premier Lloyd George of England is trying to swing France back into line in the international economic conference. It is learned that the British premier has conveyed a clear warning to France that she must choose between Belgium and Britain in her future attitude towards Russia. Lloyd George is said to have notified France that if she continues to back up Belgium's opposition to article seven of the allied declaration of Russian conditions, there will be little opportunity for Sir Basil Blackett's debt plan being adopted, but on the contrary, Britain will insist that every nation pay up its war debts and be punctual about it.

FRANCE MAINTAINS STERN ATTITUDE TOWARD RUSSIA

PARIS, May 5.—Bearing instructions to maintain a stern attitude towards Russia, Minister of Justice Barthou, head of the French delegation attending the international economic conference departed for Genoa today. Barthou's chief instructions were understood to be grouped as follows: (1) To insist that private property rights be respected by Russia so that the owners of property that was nationalized by the Moscow government can secure their own possessions. (2) To bear in mind that there is no obligation on the part of France towards Great Britain to compel France to recognize the soviet government. (3) In view of the fact that Chancellor Wirth and Walter Rathenau of the German delegation, have refused to sign the French conditions for the ten-year non-aggression pact, M. Barthou is under orders to prevent any revision of the pact that would weaken the treaty of Versailles.

KLAN INQUIRY MADE BY SAN FRANCISCO PROSECUTOR

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Actively taking up the investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in his city, District Attorney Matthew A. Brady of San Francisco today telegraphed District Attorney Woolwine asking for a list of the names of San Francisco klansmen. Woolwine immediately ordered his assistants to compile the list Brady requested and to forward it to San Francisco immediately. The list was compiled from membership rolls seized when the Ku Klux Klan headquarters in Los Angeles were raided last week. More than 200 names of San Francisco klansmen were found, Woolwine stated. He explained that there were several thousand klansmen in the northern city, but that only a portion of them were found listed in documents found in the raid on Klan offices. Detectives of the district attorney's office today served subpoenas on a score of witnesses to appear before the county grand jury next week in its investigation of the Klan and the Ingewood mob violence. A list of names of fifty-five men who participated in the Ingewood raid was scheduled to be submitted to Woolwine today by Grand Goblin Coburn.

HOTEL PROPOSITION AGAIN DISCUSSED BY EASTSIDERS

Advancement Association Enlarges Committee; Outlines Various Improvements

Information pertinent to the proposed hotel at Broadway and Glendale avenue will be available in the near future.

The East Glendale Advancement association received this report with satisfaction yesterday noon at its luncheon in the banquet room at 223 South Brand boulevard of Ye White Inn.

Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East Broadway stated that the negotiations had reached such a stage that additional advice was desirable. Following her request for the appointment of a larger committee, C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, president of the organization, added to the committee P. J. Hayselden of 610 East Broadway; F. W. M. McIntyre of 724 East Broadway; C. D. Thom of 133 South Brand boulevard; J. L. McComber of 1530 East Broadway; Dr. Henry R. Harrower of 1510 East Broadway, and Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway.

Besides Mrs. Tight, the original committee consisted of Mayor Spencer Robinson, 612 East Broadway; S. C. Kitch, 328 North Brand boulevard; R. M. Brown, 106 South Glendale avenue; Frank H. Vesper, 321 East Lomita avenue, and Herman Nelson, manager of the Glendale avenue Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank.

Committee in Session

Following the luncheon, the entire committee met for a consideration of the hotel project. The present status of the situation was laid before them and the future was painted in glowing terms.

"Whenever you want to put anything over that requires money, it requires a great deal more effort than it does merely to get someone to do something," asserted Dr. Harrower. He stated that he was awaiting data from the engineering department at the city hall in regard to the most suitable type of electrolifts for Broadway east of Glendale avenue to the city limits. He said he did not believe the cost would amount to more than $1.50 a front foot.

Upon an inquiry on the part of Dr. Harrower as to whether it might not

W. A. Roberts' Home Scene of Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roberts of 717 East Windsor Road entertained with a party at their home Wednesday night combining the celebration of the fourth birthday anniversary of their son, Walter Homer Roberts, and also of their wedding anniversary. Floral decorations of pink and white were used throughout the house.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bridge, Walter Winthrop Bridge, Martha Bridge, Virginia Barker, Edward Barker, Willetta Adele Roberts, Master Walter Roberts and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roberts.

Los Angeles Trio to Give Program at Club

The program at the next regular meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club at Masonic temple will be given by the Los Angeles Trio, composed of May McDonald Hope, pianist; Calmon Lubovisky, violinist; Ilva Bronson, violoncellist. Mrs. Hope is an experienced ensemble player and has the distinction of being one of the first musicians to interest the public in this branch of musical art. Mr. Lubovisky has appeared as soloist under such famous conductors as Strauss and Nikisch, and Mr. Bronson has also appeared with great success.

Harley B. Yakel and Family to Come Here

The Glendale Evening News is in receipt of a letter from Harley B. Yakel of Champaign, Ill., who states that he and his family are going to locate in Glendale in the next few months, and until then are keeping in touch with the progress of this city through this newspaper. Mr. Yakel states that it is through the suggestion of S. C. Tucker, mayor of Champaign, that he is coming to Glendale. Mr. Tucker has visited here and has resigned his position at Champaign with the intention of locating in Glendale with a drug store, it is stated.

W. N. Rohweder Says Fishing Prospects Good

W. N. Rohweder of 336 Pioneer Drive, who was a member of five who went fishing on the east fork of the San Gabriel river, returned on Wednesday night and reported that the prospects were good with the water running deep and the trout quite keen for bait. They caught 100 fish in the two and one-half days of sport after packing into the mountains twenty-five miles from Azusa. They had to ford the river sixty-three times, the last of which spilled one member of the party.

PASTOR FACES DEATH NUMEROUS TIMES ON LONG TRIP

R. W. Parmele, Superintendent for Adventist Church in Foreign Fields Is Here

Pastor R. W. Parmele, general superintendent of the mission rest homes and schools of the Seventh-day Adventist church in Mexico and the Central American states of Guatemala, San Salvador and Honduras, where he has spent five years, is a guest at the Glendale Sanitarium, having made the journey from the foreign field in order to represent his division at the world conference that will be held in San Francisco this month.

Pastor Parmele has been traveling almost continually since the first week in November, and during these months has visited practically all of the institutions in his division, which include a medical institution at Guadalajara, in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, which is under the management of Dr. F. W. West of Lincoln Park, Los Angeles; rest homes at Santa Ana, San Salvador, Tegucigalpa, San Pedro, La Ceiba, Guatemala City, Coxenhole, in Ruitan on Bay Island, and a school at Siguatepeque, Honduras, on a tract of 1100 acres, on which is located a sawmill, numerous buildings and herds of cattle. Four American college graduates are included in the faculty and thirty children being cared for.

Needs Armed Guard
Attending the inauguration of President Obregon at Mexico City, he was much impressed by a speech of one prominent Mexican official, whose theme was the great desire of Mexico and Mexican people to treat all American citizens as "Vecinos, amigos and hermanos," neighbors, friends and brothers. But immediately afterward, when he crossed the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, it was found necessary for the government to send with him an armed escort of thirty native soldiers, to insure his safe arrival at Guatemala. During the last lap of his tedious journey he was the guest of the Mexican ambassador to Guatemala, whose private car was attached to the train on which he had taken passage.

His most thrilling experience of the entire winter occurred at Guatemala City, where he had made all necessary preparations for crossing the line to San Salvador, expecting to leave very early on the morning of December 6. He was awakened during the night by the sounds of a revolution, and found, in the morning, that the old officials were in prison, a number of resisting guards had been executed, and officials of the new liberal party were in full control of the government, the entire proceeding having been accomplished in two hours. He was obliged to secure new passports, and in company with two natives of

AVIATOR ESCAPES INJURIES

BELMONT, Ohio, May 5.—An airplane en route to Washington from Dayton fell near here. Lieutenant Mark Rerman, the pilot, escaped injury. Motor trouble is blamed.

CASHIER LOSES PAYROLL

TOLEDO, May 5.—Burrell Loop, cashier for the Hollander Bread company, was robbed of a $2000 payroll by four gunmen. The bandits escaped.

OLD ENOUGH TO KNOW THAT

"Are all flowers popular?" asked the teacher.
"No, ma'am," replied one of the bright little girls.
"What flowers are not popular?"
"Wall-flowers, ma'am."

Mexico and one of San Salvador, renewed the journey, only to find the frontier absolutely closed to any one from Guatemala or any foreigner with passports.

Locked Up in Prison

Upon the American demanding to see the officer in command, a badly frightened guard carried a message for them, returning with permission for them to cross the line, which they did, to be met by an armed guard, who promptly marched them to prison and locked them up, without explanation. Again the demand of an American citizen secured a hearing, but not until the next day. When the message was carried to the "comandante" that an American citizen, unarmed, and with proper passports was in prison, and demanded an explanation, they were brought before him and the American released, with his companions, the only explanation offered being that word had been brought in that a large armed force of revolutionary troops was approaching the border, and he felt that the only safe place for these foreigners was in jail.

The remainder of the long, circuitous journey was accomplished without further molestation, and covered many tedious miles, by mule back, by boat, by auto and railway, ending by a lovely trip up the coast to New Orleans, and across our country to Glendale.

Wonderful Opportunity

Pastor Parmele regards the states of Central America as a land of wonderful opportunity, in many respects. Regardless of the many revolutions, American citizens have always been treated with respect. The liberal party, now in control of the state of Guatemala, have proclaimed from the beginning of time to the readiness at any time to enter into a confederacy of the States of Central America, provided they are backed by Costa Rica and Nicaragua, and the United States will stand as a protector.

This Charming Frock and Girl Attracts

Of white crepe knit with its brilliant stripe of dandelion yellow, this charming frock is a fitting style for summer. The feature of the dress is the long square shaped sleeve. The smart little chapeau is of taffeta with an upturned brim of fan-like pleating, and a decoration pin on either side.

Discarded Tires Are Used to Make Shoes

The fate of worn-out automobile tires—at least those of Los Angeles—has been found.

After serving their purpose here the old timers are sent to the west coast of Mexico and made into shoes. "And making shoes from the discarded 'cordis' and 'fabrics' is simple. The old tires are cut into lengths, both ends sewed up at the toes, a strip tacked on for a heel, and they have as wearable a shoe as ever was made, it is claimed.

To make such a shoe costs only from 50 to 75 cents.

The business of this new trade is amazing. Sam L. Kreider, steamship agent, is the authority for the statement that the last shipment of old tires from here to the west coast of Mexico totalled 200 tons, and more consignments will go soon.

83 Per Cent of All Autos Are in America

While a great many persons have realized that the United States leads the world in the automotive industry, few have realized that more than 83 per cent of all the motor cars in the world are found in America.

The total number of cars in the world is 12,588,949, of which the United States boasts 10,505,660. This shows that the Americans fully appreciate the value of an automobile and that a greater proportion of them are financially able to purchase some kind of a car.

CLEANING REFLECTORS

A mixture of denatured alcohol and water in equal parts is best for cleaning reflectors in headlights. To avoid scratching the highly polished surface the solution should be applied with cotton or a soft cloth.

In Los Angeles Today

ON ARSONIST'S TRAIL

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Arrests were planned today, according to authorities, of two men who, it is believed, attempted to set fire to the Los Angeles Record building. The blaze was started among papers piled outside a rear door. Neighbors saw flames from the paper shooting to the roof and turned in an alarm. The quick arrival of the fire department prevented any damage being done. As the firemen arrived, it was reported, two men fled.

PHONE GIRLS FLEE FIRE

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Ten girl operators were forced to flee from their stations in the South Telephone exchange early today when a fire swept through the basement of the building. The fire, it is thought, was caused by a short circuit. Damage will exceed $10,000, it was stated.

DRUGGED AND DUMPED

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Rendered unconscious when their assailants flung a mysterious white powder into their faces, two boys who were traveling from Bakersfield to Los Angeles were thrown from a speeding automobile on the ridge route highway, near Castaic, and painfully injured, today, according to a report made to the sheriff's office. Under the back seat of the machine the boys said they found a large tank which prohibition officers believe contained liquor. One of the men, seeing the boys had found the tank, threw several handfuls of white powder into their faces. The boys said they awoke several hours later beside the road.

GOBS STEAL COP'S STAR

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—While attempting to arrest a sailor early today, Patrolman Arthur Hatfield and A. Ladjini, a wrestler, were attacked by a gang of 30 sailors and one of the mob struck Hatfield over the head with a blackjack. Ladjini had his hand severely hurt in the melee. Several shots were fired by the officer, who pursued one of the mob. Hatfield was also robbed of his police badge.

HE WAS STILL AT IT

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Accused by the police of having made fifty stills in the last two years, M. D. Little, was arrested early today while a party attended by young women was said to have been at its height in his living quarters at a metal works owned by Little. When arrested, Little had a new, completed still ready for delivery, the police reported. The still was seized as evidence.

Japanese-American Society Plans Program

The monthly meeting of the Japanese American society will be held in the South Glendale Presbyterian church Saturday night, May 6, at 8 o'clock. There will be special music by Prof. A. Lowinsky, violinist, and Mrs. Lowinsky, pianist. Two Japanese from Los Angeles will sing and talks will be given by H. E. Foy of Glendale and the Rev. Y. Kanako of Los Angeles.

No Horses to Steal! Thieves 'Motorizing'

According to a dispatch from the New York Sun no one will steal a horse today. The Horse Thief Detecting Society of Mamakating, Wallkill and Crawford, N. Y., has been abandoned. The twenty-one members of the society will split $1400 in the treasury which has remained unexpended because there are no horse thieves left to catch. This is not because the world is growing better, but because thieves have become "converted"—they are motorizing.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advertisement.

Daily HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS

By Dr. Otey

Do you know why the osteopath should not tell people about osteopathy? I don't. It seems to me that he is the logical source from which you should get your knowledge of osteopathy. Your knowledge of the vital truths of health, its attainment and maintenance is not complete till you know about osteopathy. Your health is a valuable asset, and you owe it to yourself to investigate its laws. Until you have a thorough knowledge of osteopathy we have neither of us done our duty. People often blame the climate, their work or other conditions for their poor health when the cause is within themselves and could be removed by osteopathic measures. They often change about from one location to another, seeking health in a way that would be ludicrous if it were not so pathetic, for health must come from establishing better conditions within the body.

We don't censure the Dental Profession any more for teaching the public the value of prophylactic measures in dentistry. It was only the pioneers in the movement that receive censure and, since the Osteopaths do not carry on a concerted movement to educate the public to the tenets of Osteopathy, the task is left for the more aggressive individuals in the profession. Those who wish may sit idly (and ethically) by, and listen in while our imitators tell the public that the Osteopath only rubs while they, our imitators, adjust; but, as for me, I have chosen a different course.

This subject will be concluded in this column tomorrow. Send in your question to

SAN FERNANDO ROAD INCREASES STREET LIGHT SYSTEM

From Pacific to Oxford Bright Spots Will Be Scattered All Along Highway

The city council last night approved a petition for the installation of ornamental lights on San Fernando Road from Los Feliz Road south to the city limits at Oxford street. A similar petition had been accepted already covering the stretch between Pacific avenue and Los Feliz Road south to the city limits at Oxford street. A similar petition had been accepted already covering the stretch between Pacific avenue and Los Feliz Road. Steps are now being taken to interest the property owners and extend the system as far north as possible.

The type of electrolite decided upon is a combination of two lamps fastened to the upper surface of a highly ornamented cross bar on concrete post with a granite finish. The amount of illumination will be about 500 candlepower or 250 per foot light. The amount of light diffused by the electrolites on Brand boulevard and East Broadway is 325 candlepower.

The posts are to be staggered. There will be a distance of 150 feet between standards on the same side of the street and a distance of 74 feet between them on opposite sides of the street.

Details Decided Upon

Important intersections will have four standards, one on each corner. The crossings singled out for this honor are Glendale avenue, Brand boulevard and Los Feliz Road. The distance between the southern city limits and Los Feliz Road is over 2000 feet and the distance between Los Feliz Road and Pacific avenue is about an equal distance. Plans are being made to extend the system along the jog of about 700 feet west at Pacific avenue.

Altogether, Peter Deiterich, city superintendent of light and waterworks, estimates that the distance to be covered will be approximately 7000 feet. The expense of installing this system is estimated at approximately $13,000. The cost of each standard, including labor, will be in the neighborhood of $270. The figure of $1.82 per front foot has been mentioned.

The expense of operation is calculated at about 45 cents a front foot per annum. The difference between this sum and the amount which the city could reasonably be expected to pay for illumination of this street will be borne by the property owners. Mr. Deiterich hesitated to make any definite statement, but estimated that the assessment would amount to about 80 per cent of the total. This would place a tax of 36 cents on each front foot or $18 a year for a 50-foot lot.

Association Gets Action

The San Fernando Road Improvement association has been instrumental in getting this matter before the council. The first action was to liberate the property owners along San Fernando Road between Los Feliz Road and Pacific avenue. For this purpose a committee consisted of William Griffin, 806 South San Fernando Road; L. H. Wilson, 1024 South San Fernando Road; Mrs. May P. Moberly, 1011 South San Fernando Road; Roy Johnston, 1123 South San Fernando Road; H. V. Johnson, 121 Fairview avenue, and Harper S. Cobb, 1113 South San Fernando Road.

During the past week a strenuous campaign has been waged to interest the property owners south of Los Feliz Road. T. B. Reavis, proprietor of the paint store at 1528 South San Fernando Road, Jack Satow, proprietor of the plumbing shop at 1515 South San Fernando Road, and other merchants of southern Glendale have been in favor of the installation of additional lights for some time.

The campaign was wound up yesterday by a committee composed of T. B. Reavis, L. H. Wilson and Roy Johnston.

The electrolites favored are similar to those on Fourth street, Long Beach, and Seventh street, San Pedro. Bronze standards of a duplicate design are installed in front of the Pacific Mutual Building in Los Angeles. They are similar to those on Broadway, Los Angeles, only much lower.

Proceedings will be started as soon as possible at the city hall and Mr. Deiterich estimates that in about ninety days San Fernando Road should be "all lit up."

The ruins of ancient Carthage are soon to be dug up by a Franco-American archeological expedition. The remains of the three earliest Christian churches, which lie beneath many feet of dust and debris, will soon be uncovered and the finds, it is believed, will be more important as far as the history of early Christianity is concerned, than are those of Rome or Constantinople.

ADVENTISTS SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM GIVEN

First Year's Work Closes With Impressive Ceremonies at Church Last Night

snow-clad peaks on every side—these he pictured as the reward that repaid a thousand times the fatigue of the climb.

Hard and Rough Places

Life's journey, Mr. Knox told his hearers, is likewise beset with hard and rough places. As mountain climbers bravely face the heights, endure the chilling mists, the pitiless heat, the grilling climb, so must the youth who would win success toil on unflinchingly. So real did he picture the climb, and so desirable the attainment, that his audience was stirred to a twofold objective—to see California's wonderful playground and to make a success of life's climb.

From the vantage point of a successful evangelist, Elder Knox could speak with power not only to the young people of the graduating class, but to the older members of his audience. With telling force he rehearsed the experience of the great apostle Paul, whose life was filled with toils by land and by sea, with perils of many climes, of savage beasts, and of more savage men; then that noble man's proud though justified boast at the close of his long life of service, "I have finished my course."

Completes First Year

The address was a fitting climax to the strenuous year the school is closing. The academy thus completes its first year, patrons and students feeling that the work has been successful. The bond between the faculty and the students seems sincere and strong, and all look forward to future years of study and labor under the motto of the first class to be graduated, "Onward and Upward."

The presentation of diplomas was made by the principal, Prof. Max Hill, assisted by the president of the Junior class, Merlin L. Neff. Mr. Hill commended the class for their faithful work during his two years of association with them, and urged that they go on to complete their education in college, they keep their motto ever in mind. He also stated to the audience that every one of the class looks forward in a definite way to some line of denominational work, evangelistic, medical, or teaching.

Well Arranged Program

The program of the evening included the class hymn, "Loyalty to the Master," sung by the congregation and the students of the academy, who occupied the choir seats. Miss Lillian Munson and James Moore, of the Glendale Sanitarium, sang the beautiful duet, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." The academy chorus, directed by Professor Hill, sang an appropriate selection, "Sail On! Sail On!"

Pastor F. W. Paap, formerly of Glendale, more recently of Kansas, gave the invocation, and Pastor J. Walter Rich, the benediction. The graduates received the congratulations of their many friends, who rejoiced with them in a completed work and in the determination to advance to higher attainments. Many beautiful flowers and other gifts were presented to the young people.

The class, which numbers five, includes Cecil Irving Chrisman, the president; Elizabeth Charlotte Cook, Kathryn Ruth Waters, Iris Rowena Chrisman, and Henry J. Westphal, all of whom have received their academic training in the Seventh-day Adventist parochial schools.

Work of School Outlined

The work of the school includes the regular courses of grammar grades as well as academic, or high school. Four teachers have carried the elementary grades the past year. Two buildings are occupied by these lower grades, and the academic work is carried in the new building erected last summer. The assembly room of the latter has been the scene of many pleasant occasions during the school year, conducted by the faculty, the students, the P-T. A., and others. The room was designed as a social center for school and church, and as such has served well.

The equipment of the school includes a separate building for wood-working classes, a room for sewing, and a well-planned and well-equipped domestic science department. The Parent-Teachers' association fosters these manual department, and many improvements are being planned.

During the winter, the students made a drive for books for the library. A friendly rivalry between the boys and the girls resulted in the securing of more than three thousand books, many of them valuable additions to the small library already possessed. The girls were the winners in the contest, and the boys paid for their defeat by royally entertaining—and feeding—the victors, both sides proving themselves to be good sports as well as splendid workers.

ABLE TO QUIT HOSPITAL

Oscar, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Sauter of 505 West Colorado street, was taken to his home this morning from the Glendale Research Hospital.

Dr. Edward P. Swift of 124 South Brand boulevard, about ten days ago, removed an open safety pin from the baby's stomach. He had picked it up from the floor where it had been dropped from his mother's lap while she was sewing. The operation is considered noteworthy in medical circles. According to Dr. Swift, the baby is now perfectly normal.

Mrs. Asquith's Daughter Causes Literary Storm

LONDON. — Princess Bibesco, daughter of Margot Asquith and wife of the Rumanian minister at Washington, is a storm center in London.

"I Have Only Myself to Blame," the book written by Princess Bibesco, is the cause of the storm.

The Saturday Review, under the caption "Dirty Work," attacked the Princess's book and denounced the tendency of modern women writers to indulge too freely in discussions regarding sex.

The "Dirty Work" editorial has brought forth a flood of argument pro and con, as to just how proper sex is as a matter of parlor conversation and literature.

Open Door Policy Is Favored by Merchants

In speaking with Los Angeles manufacturers, E. F. Sanders, membership secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, finds that Glendale's open door policy is keenly appreciated. "Not that these people do not favor 'Trade at Home,' for they do, but they feel that Glendale is a greater field because it is not limited by licenses. In other cities where licenses are charged in an effort to build a fence around the town there is a natural animosity," Mr. Sanders says he finds.

Ken Williams, the new slugger, Ruthed a couple again yesterday, getting a triple and a homer, his tenth of the season yet, the Browns lost to the Tigers.

The Dodgers didn't play yesterday, but just for the sake of starting something, they cut the halters on Sam Crane and George Whitted, a pair of vets. Sam goes to the Seattle Pacific Coast League club, and George to Kansas City of the American association.

Duster Mails, threatened with disaster in the ninth inning, pulled himself together and fanned the dangerous Hooper for the final out with two on, the Indians thereby winning their second straight from the White Sox.

'Ken' Williams Hangs Up Another Home Run

DETROIT, Mich., May 5.—Home runs by "Ken" Williams, leading home run hitter of the American league this season, and Harry Heilmann, champion batsman of the junior league last year, featured yesterday's game between St. Louis and Detroit which the Tigers won, 4 to 5.

Going into the ninth two runs behind, the Tigers opened a heavy attack and scored three runs, enough to win, when Cobb doubled, Veatch singled and Heilmann put the ball over the left field fence.

Williams' home run, his tenth this year, scored Sisler, who had singled ahead of him.

His circuit swat was made off O'Leary and Heilmann knocked one of Van Gilder's slants over the fence.

There is much that we find desirable in a near-champion who will fight over the champion who won't. The former may have his faults, but he is not a sensitive, delicate, pay-me-for-my-trouble type of boxer that has come along during recent years to annoy one exceedingly.

Consider, for example, Johnny Dundee. Johnny has no more punch than a glass of grape juice, yet he has appeared in some 800 bouts within a matter of twelve years and gives you plenty of action at all times.

Another is Dave Shade, the Californian. He is another light puncher, but he doesn't let them worry him. He takes them all on, slugging and boxing, and one of these fine days he may be welterweight champion.

Dave received sixty-one offers during the month of March, accepted as many as was humanly possible, and now is booked to fight in Racine, Wis.; Boston, Omaha, Galveston and New Orleans.

You can't shoot a man for trying, says Dave.

He peeped just once and threw a fit. He had but one, lone measly pair. The sound that thrills the golfer's heart.

A tee shot hit for old time's sake. We know what you took the trail. You should have heard that poor goof wail.

The ball was floating in the lake. The sound of piskin booted hard. The crowd stands and all that stuff.

The University of California track team which last year won the I. C. A. A. A. A. championships by half a point from Harvard suffered a moral defeat when its historic opponent Stanford university—the underdog without a chance—tied scores, 65½ points in the annual dual meet.

The University of California eight-oared crew which last year shook the foundations of the great Poughkeepsie regatta traditions by taking second to Annapolis also went down to an inglorious defeat of ten boat lengths due to the superiority of the University of Washington crew.

On January first of this year California university football stock fell hundreds of points when the best they could do was to hold Washington & Jefferson to a scoreless tie, and this after California had been proclaimed "the wonder team" of the country.

Such reversal of form in three major sports brings out the query—Has California shot its bolt?

The history of collegiate sports of all kinds in all parts of the country is the same. The "cock of the walk" has his day and stays at the top of the heap for just so long, but eventually the "underdog" gets mad, somehow or other produces good performers and then the day arrives when the "underdog" goes up on top.

Wild game in the Sierra and the Rocky mountains have been experiencing the hardest time in years to keep alive owing to the exceedingly severe winter. According to reports there has been up to nearly five feet of snow on the floor of the Yosemite valley. The opening of nearly all roads into this national playground has been delayed from a week to ten days later than usual.

Clarence de Mar, of Melrose, Mass., who won the recent American Marathon at Boston, accomplished something that falls to the lot of few athletes—that is the winning of an athletic event which he previously had won ten years before. Ten years may be said to be the span which measures the length of active participation in athletics and, as a rule, the pinnacle has been reached several years prior to this time. De Mar's achievement is worthy of more than a mere passing notice.

Any track and field athlete who, like Brutus Hamilton, of Missouri University, can win four firsts and two seconds in a dual track meet against another university, is worthy of being considered as having the earmarks of an all-round athlete.

One of the stupidest alibis, or reasons that a manager can advance as to the reason why some other pugilist doesn't meet his man is that the other fellow is "afraid" of his man. Men who are "afraid" either do not go in the ring or, if they do, they never get anywhere and are not worthy of consideration. While boxers who do not conform to the rules are barred from competing, there also ought to be some means for the

ATTRACTIVE OFFICE IS OCCUPIED BY H. L. MILLER CO.

Transformation of Building Is Completed; Realty Concern 'at Home' Once More

The H. L. Miller company, dealers in real estate and insurance, are "home again" after several moves while their quarters at 109 South Brand boulevard in the McElroy block were being remodeled.

Yes, quite a transformation has taken place in the past two months under the skillful hands of the R. L. Kent company artisans. A series of new store fronts, second story grille work, tile roof and lots of plate-glass make the exterior look like new.

In addition to this, Mr. Miller has had the interior of his office room redecorated and all new fixtures installed with the single exception of his own personal desk. Rear windows supplement the "all daylight" scheme and vases of flowers attractively placed add cheer to the room.

Really, it is a pleasant place for strangers contemplating locating in Glendale.

Comes Here in 1907

H. L. Miller came to Glendale in 1907 when he purchased Thornycroft farm. Having an office in Los Angeles he soon decided that Glendale offered greater opportunity for his real estate business and he transferred his interests here, opening an office in the McIntyre block on East Broadway. Eight years ago he moved to 109 South Brand boulevard and there he is today.

While handling a general line of real estate Mr. Miller has seen values increase from $500 to $20,000 on Brand boulevard and from $250 to $2500 in the residential sections. Incidentally, he has acquired quite a bit of this valuable property himself.

Fire insurance is one of the biggest parts of the Miller agency and he writes in the neighborhood of $225,000 monthly—all in non-board companies. He also handles auto, plate-glass, burglary and employers' liability insurance, his son-in-law, H. E. Rice, assisting in the latter work.

E. T. Allen and Mr. Rice are in charge of the realty department while S. H. Wilcox handles the outside work. Miss O. O. Smith is the cashier and stenographer for the firm.

Pretty Ankles Help Woman Win Lawsuit

PARIS.—Mademoiselle Blanche Otero has much to thank her pretty features—and particularly her pretty ankles—for. She admits it, for both of these played an important part in swaying the jury's verdict in a recent lawsuit in which the well known dancer claimed 100,000 francs damages for a crushed foot sustained in a taxi cab accident.

Blanche Otero claims that she has the prettiest ankles in France and that these are an asset, as she was a professional dancer.

The lawyer of the taxicab company said Mlle. Otero was much too old to dance professionally. A controversy raged, for the dancer was not in court. The jury decided that Blanche Otero should come to court. She did, and, after showing her face, revealed her pretty ankles. Five minutes later a verdict in her favor was returned.

A break in the circuit of wires of a new burglar alarm, caused by any moving of a window or door, pulls a telephone receiver down and sends a voice over the telephone wires to the exchange switchboard, giving the street and number of the house, and announcing that it is being entered by burglars. Central switches the call to police headquarters and a patrol wagon is soon on the scene of activity.

Hawk Plays at Stork, In Delivering Baby Pig

BELVIDERE, Ill.—The strange incident of a hawk playing the role of a stork and depositing a live pig on the farm of H. C. Stanley, of Cherry Valley, was told at the sale of the porker after it had grown to killing size.

A dog on the Stanley farm noticed the hawk flying low over the farm, followed by a flock of crows. Chasing the strange spectacle, the dog frightened the hawk, and it dropped its prey. The baby pig was fed with a spoon until it grew strong. At the time it was sold the pig weighed 325 pounds and was the father of thirty pigs.

Chess by wireless is a popular diversion in the Yukon. Telegraph operators on the 2000 miles of government telegraph line through the Yukon play chess on the wire. VELMA THOMPSON EXTRA! DERE KATIE'S IS MARRIED TO FRIEND, E. C. HALE, HENRY R. JONES FINDS HIMSELF!

Bridegroom Is Son of Thomas E. Jones and Wife, 227 West Elk Avenue

Strivin' Reporter Making Trip Back Home and He Tells of Harrowing Details

A very pretty home wedding took place at noon Wednesday, May 3, 1922, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Jones of 227 West Elk avenue, when their son, Henry Robert Jones of Long Beach, married Miss Velma May Thompson, also of that city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. H. H. Shawhan of San Gabriel, who is an uncle of the bridegroom. Miss Veda Thompson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Harold F. Jones, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

At 12 o'clock the bride and bridegroom, with their attendants, entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Margaret Jones, and took their places before a bower of beautiful roses and ferns.

Those present to witness the ceremony were the immediate members of both families and a few intimate friends from Long Beach. The bride was charming in a gown of white crepe and georgette, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom wore a blue silk gown and carried cream roses.

Luncheon Is Served

After the wedding a delicious luncheon was served. The table was artistically decorated with roses and bridal wreath. A large bride's cake was one of the features of the luncheon, and was decorated with orange blossoms and topped with an ornament of white doves.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left in the evening on a honeymoon trip by boat to San Francisco, where they will make a short visit before taking up their residence in Long Beach.

WHAT RUSSIA MUST DO

WASHINGTON, May 5. — Recognition of Russia by the United States "is dependent upon the existence of a government competent to take charge and which shows a disposition to discharge its international obligations." Secretary of State Hughes told a delegation of women who called at the state department to urge immediate recognition of the soviet Russian government. The women represented the Women's International league for peace and freedom.

DON'T POKE FUN, IS PLEA

WASHINGTON, May 5. — Lady Astor, only woman member of the British house of commons and Miss Alice Robertson, only representative of her sex in the house of representatives, were the guests of Washington newspaper men at the National Press club.

Lady Nancy warned the correspondents against "poking fun" at women in politics, and said that women were needed in public affairs in both England and the United States.

RUSSIAN DELEGATION ACTS

GENOA, May 5. — At the very moment the allied experts were meeting to effect a reconciliation between the French and British policies with regard to Russia, the Russian delegates themselves took a hand in the situation by sending a communication to Premier Facta, president of the conference, in which they threatened to fall back on their original position of repudiating war debts. The Russian communication provided a sensation in conference circles.

Readers of The Glendale Evening News last year will recall E. C. Hale, the "strivin' reporter," and his letters to "Dere Katie." For some months "Dere Katie" hasn't been receiving letters, but now Hale is "out from cover" and the following is what he springs upon an unsuspecting public:

By Assassinated Press
Darnedifino, New Mex.
Apr. 28.

My Dear Friends:—I suppose a lot of you back there in Glendale have been wonderin' what has become of me, if anything, since I quit my job last fall as a strivin' reporter with The Glendale Evening News.

And I expect possibly no doubt you will register intense pain or surprise as the case may be, or will either fall out of your chair in a dead faint when you get this here letter from me from the midst of the desert. And as for my writin' articles for newspapers, maybe some of my old friends and vica versa have decided as how I would of done a lot better if I had kept my old job at the gas works, but just the same I know that my light under the bushel has never gone out and you can't always tell how the circus is goin' to be from the bills on the fence or words to that effect.

Sometimes I think as how I must of got my literary bump when I was a baby when another kid hit me on the head with a mallet, but just the same I never say much, cause I say what I think and while writin' for a newspaper is just a innocent pastime, I can't help always feelin' kinda filled up with sediment at this time of year when nature is filled up with smilin' invitations and which usually ends up by my breakin' out with pimples and poetry.

Some Pro and Some Con

So now once more I have picked up my rusty pen to write a few more letters pro and con to my old friends back there in Glendale, about my trip east this summer and which will be entitled "Back To The Old Home." And in my views, reviews and intermin' events and experiences which might come in contact with me until I get back to Glendale again and which no doubt would be enough to make Stanley's trip through Africa look like a simple trip to the movies and I will try to tell nothing but the truth and not much of that.

But I suppose a lot of people would like to know the facts of the matter as to where I have been all winter and maybe they have been sayin' things about me like as if I was in a jail or maybe a padded cell, but the man which don't have no bad things said about him hasn't never done anything good. Ain't it so?

So I have bought a round trip ticket with a berth both ways and back again and today I am headin' east, bound for that little town where I used to live. Well, so far I have had a nice time lookin' out at the scenery except when we passed thru Pasadena where I pulled down the shades.

Ugh! Ugh! Heap Squaw!

Last night I ate my supper at Needles, Calif., and there was a lot of female Indian squaws hangin' around the station sellin' pretty chains for $.50 each which they make themselves, (to hear 'em tell it) but which I figure is imported from Sears Roebuck for $6 a gross.

This mornin' we got to Gallup, New Mex., a hour late account of the engineer settin' up all night and I pretty near got trampled on in the mad rush of hungry tourists which galluped to the lunch counter for breakfast. After I had got filled up on prunes and pancakes I got inspired to write this here letter.

Well, the porter which is as black as a dollar's worth of stove polish was real nice to me and he brung me a little table to do my writin' on and picked off a couple imaginary ravelin's off my coat sleeve for which I give him a nickel just to show him as how it pays to be nice to us tourists. It ain't much, but it's something, as blind chicken said when she got a kernal.

Baby Is Some Cutup

Then the lady across the isle brung me her baby to take care of while she went out to lunch and I have had to give him my razor to play with to keep him quiet and with my table shakin' like chinaware in a earthquake it is awful hard to write very plain. And while this here letter might be quite a failure, I at least know that the baby is goin' to be a howlin' success.

Well, the porter just come in and hollered somethin' which sounded like he was tryin' to talk with his mouth full of clothespins, but which in plane English means as how we are goin' to stop 20 minutes for lunch at Albuquerque, so I got to quit now.

If I don't hear from you I will know that you got this here letter and if you like it I will send you a lot more.

Yours Occasionally

PHONE SUBSCRIBERS GIVEN CHANCE TO BUY INTEREST

Fred Deal Tells of Plans by Which Local People May Get Company Stock

An announcement of particular interest was made today by Manager Fred Deal of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, and relates to an arrangement just concluded whereby local telephone users and others in this community may become partners in the business by the purchase of stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph company through the assistance of the local organization. Manager Fred Deal says:

"In response to the many inquiries from our subscribers as to how stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph company could be purchased, we have just concluded arrangements whereby these securities are made available for purchase at the current market price by the people of this community, in small or large amounts, either on a cash basis or a very reasonable deferred payment plan.

"Details of this plan are handled through our local business office for the convenience of our patrons and the public. We hope by opening this channel for the assistance of local investors to contribute to the promotion of community and national thrift, and to the spread of a broader knowledge of investment generally. Our action should also facilitate and strengthen the activities of all sound and helpful investment and financial agencies.

Encourages Thrift

"With only one-sixteenth of the world's population, the United States now has two-thirds of the world's telephones, and we feel that by making the securities of this nation-wide business available to our local patrons at the current market price, either on a cash basis or a reasonable deferred payment plan, a real step in the direction of the encouragement of national thrift on a permanent and constructive basis has been taken, and we welcome the inquiries of any of our patrons to whom this plan is of interest.

"The net earnings of the American company during the past twenty-one years, after providing for all interest due, have averaged $10 per share per year. For forty years the American company and its predecessor have paid dividends to the public of not less than $7.50 per share per year. For fourteen years payments have been $8 per share per year and $9 is now the established annual rate paid in quarterly amounts of $2.25 per share on January, April, July and October 15. Nine per cent on company's capital stock is less than 5 per cent on the company's equity in the property of the Bell system.

Many Owners of Stock

"More than 186,000 individuals own American Telephone stock. More than half this number are women. Over 60,000 stockholders own from one to five shares each. Nearly 140,000 own twenty-five shares or less each, and more than 165,000 own less than 100 shares each. Comparatively speaking, there are no large holdings, no stockholder owning as much as one per cent of the total stock. The average number of shares held by stockholders is thirty.

"The annual report of the American Telephone & Telegraph company and statements of the structure of the Bell system are on file at our business office and are available to all of our patrons who are interested."

Patrons See Picture, Pay What They Wish

SEASIDE, Ore.—A motion picture theatre without a box office is more than an innovation here; it is a big success, after a trial of three months.

B. J. Callahan, the movie house owner, remodeled his front, tore out the ticket seller's cage and installed a glass box between the entrance and the exit, so that patrons could drop into it whatever money they thought the picture was worth on their way out.

Callahan had strong faith in human nature, and his three-month experience proved it was justified and convinced him that if old Diogenes should visit the local movie house he'd walk on down to the ocean beach after the show and leave his lantern to the sea.

"My plan has been a success from the very first day," said Callahan. "I thought the novelty might wear off, but it doesn't."

"Why did I start? Because I had a decided slump in business last fall. I was losing money by keeping open after the summer tourist season slowed down. I hated to close for the winter. I liked the people and had confidence in them. They needed entertainment. I was satisfied if I could just break even."

"But, let me tell the world something. I am making more money than I did with a regular admission charge. The people pay for what they get. When we show a poor picture the receipts fall down. When a good picture is shown the receipts double."

"I know now that people are on the square."

FRANCE MUST ACT ALONE

LONDON, May 5.—Great Britain is not committed to cooperate with France in any military measures against Germany in the event Germany falls down on her payment of reparations, Austen Chamberlain, government spokesman, announced in the House of Commons. This means that if France undertakes any further military steps against Germany, she must act alone.

AMERICANS' FAITH SHAKEN BY GENOA CONFERENCE

G. Selfridge, London Merchant, Says U. S. People Favor
Isolating Europe

Written for International News Service
LONDON, May 4.—Gordon Selfridge, formerly of Chicago and promoter of the first department store in England, who has just returned from the United States, declared in an exclusive interview with the International News Service that 90 per cent of the Americans are in favor of American isolation from European affairs.

"Earl Balfour's personally obviously improved Anglo-American relations while he was attending the Washington conference," said Mr. Selfridge.

"Americans lose faith. It must be admitted, however, that the Genoa conference, coupled with the Russo-German pact, enormously lessened America's faith in European stability and the prospects of an economic revival in Europe. Americans are glad that they managed to avoid participation in the Genoa conference."

"One of the biggest changes I noticed was the lessened space given by American newspapers to European news."

Like all other returned travelers from America, Mr. Selfridge touched on prohibition, saying:

"About Wine and Women
"Prohibition seemed to me to be a bigger farce, especially in the cities than it was when I visited the United States in 1921. I believe, however, that the great mass of the people would welcome the improved conditions prohibition would bring about."

And then as to American women:

"American women, generally, are more stylish than British women. They know how to wear their clothes. However, the best type of English women are still the best-dressed women in the world."

EDWARDS WINS SUPPORT

TRENTON, N. J., May 5.—Declaring that Gov. Edward I. Edwards' "antagonism to prohibition" makes him the strongest candidate on the political horizon, Alexander Simpson, minority leader in the state senate, today announced his withdrawal from the race for United States senator. Governor Edwards probably will have no opponent for the Democratic nomination.

SENATE FAVORS EXTENSION

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The senate has passed a bill extending the war finance corporation until July 1, 1923.

NO PRIORITY, IS VERDICT, PACKERS' LAW HELD VALID

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The supreme court of the United States has decided that the emergency fleet corporation was not entitled to priority in bankruptcy distributions but must participate on equality with all other creditors.

THEY LEFT BUT LITTLE! GOVERNMENT LOSES CASE

REDDING, Calif., May 5.—The general merchandise store of O. E. Piles at Castella was looted by burglars, who carried off $500 worth of merchandise in an automobile truck. The postoffice in the same room was not molested.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The government lost in the supreme court of the United States its contention that federal taxes on transfers of inheritances was retroactive in certain cases. The court held the tax was not retroactive.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y. M. C. A. RADIO SCHOOL

THE EFFECT OF LIGHTNING

It is quite a rare thing for an antenna to be actually struck by lightning. If such a misfortune should occur, however, there would be nothing to do but rebuild most of the antenna system and perhaps a portion of the house. The antenna is usually connected to the ground either through the receiving instruments, the sending instruments, if any, or some means of lightning protection, such as a switch, or an arrester, may be employed. The fire underwriters' rules call for such protection, and it would be well for any who contemplate the installation of apparatus to familiarize themselves with the local regulations. It is not the purpose of this article to deal with regulations covering installations.

Lightning at considerable distance from a receiving station may cause annoyance because of interference with the received signals, music or speech. When lightning flashes occur they are discharges of electricity from one cloud to another or from a cloud to the earth. These discharges produce very great electrical disturbances in the medium called "ether" and create waves which are radiated just like the radio waves. When the waves so created reach a receiving station there are electrical oscillations created in the antenna, whose frequency is that of the antenna circuit. It makes little difference in this case to what frequency (or wave length) the antenna is tuned. The lightning discharges affect it just the same. If the lightning is close by the noise produced in a telephone car piece is extremely loud, and it would be a good plan to stay away from the instruments. The sound produced by this kind of "static," or, in fact, by most kinds, is not musical, but harsh and irregular. If the lightning is a considerable distance away the sound created by it in the telephone car pieces (head telephones) will not be so loud, but will still be harsh and irregular. The approach of a thunderstorm could very nicely be detected while the sky is still clear by listening in with a receiving set.

Lightning or less spectacular electrical discharges in the atmosphere at very considerable distance from the receiving station are responsible to a large extent, for a large amount of the "static" noticed in the summer months.

The effect of ordinary static in a receiver may be partly reduced by using what is known as a "loop antenna," sometimes by indoor antenna and usually even by reducing the size of an outdoor antenna. Static cannot, however, be entirely eliminated in this manner without also eliminating the desired signals.

Instructions for a Radio Telephone Receiving Set

By Harry F. Dart, Compiler of the Radio Operator's Course for the International Correspondence Schools

Article 1. The Antenna and Its Auxiliaries

THE construction of a set for receiving radiophone signals over short distances requires only a very simple array of apparatus. The adjustments of the receiving set may be easily made, and once made they are not difficult to maintain. Furthermore, the cost of such an installation may be materially reduced by the construction of some of the component devices by the operator himself.

An elevated wire, called an antenna, is required to intercept the radio signals. It is important that this antenna be located in an exposed position so that it will pick up as much of the energy as possible. It should be from 100 to 300 feet long, and may be made of No. 14 solid copper wire or of 7 strands of No. 22 hard drawn copper wire. In a long span it is desirable to use stranded phosphor-bronze wire or No. 14 copper wire which has a steel core. There is very little advantage in using several parallel wires in a receiving antenna except where a long single wire cannot be used. Where parallel wires must be used, they should be placed about 3 feet apart. The antenna should be supported in as high a position as possible. High trees or buildings near a receiving antenna in the direction of the station which it is desired to receive, will absorb much of the energy from that direction. It is therefore important to get the antenna high enough that nearby objects will not affect it. It should not run parallel to electric light wires, else it is apt to pick up annoying noises from those circuits.

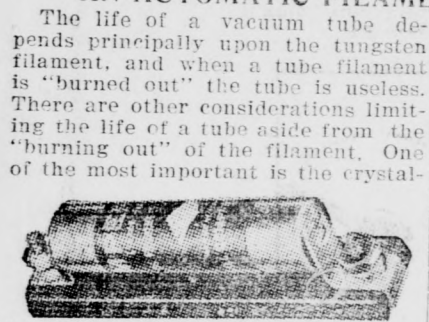

The antenna should be insulated from its supports at each end by approved insulators, such as glazed porcelain. The insulators are in turn supported by 10-foot lengths of oak cord or 1/4-inch manila rope. The antenna is thence connected with a "lead in" wire which also connects to the screw at the base of the blade of a single-pole, double-throw, 100-ampere, 500-volt switch. This switch should be mounted 5 inches out from the wall of the house, on a secure mounting. One clip or terminal of this switch should connect with a wire leading to the receiving set. The other terminal of the switch should be connected with ground by a No. 8, or in some places with a No. 4, insulated copper wire, and another lead to the receiving set, the ground lead, will also terminate at the clip.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN
RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP.

AN AUTOMATIC FILAMENT CURRENT ADJUSTER

The life of a vacuum tube depends principally upon the tungsten filament, and when a tube filament is "burned out" the tube is useless. There are other considerations limiting the life of a tube aside from the "burning out" of the filament. One of the most important is the crystallization of the tungsten, which occurs when the filament is burned at too low a temperature. This crystallization results in breakage of the filament, when the tube is subjected to vibration. On the other hand, even though the filament may not be promptly burned out, a temperature only slightly above that required for proper operation causes the tungsten to be rapidly vaporized and its life to be greatly decreased. The proper operating temperature for the kind of tungsten filament used in a vacuum tube is in the neighborhood of 2,200 degrees centigrade. The operating range is rather small, and it takes but a small turn of a rheostat knob, one way or the other, to increase or decrease the operating temperature above or below the normal necessary for long life. In fact, it is quite difficult for the ordinary person to ascertain whether or not the filament is being burned at the proper temperature when rheostats are used.

Having the above in mind, a manufacturer has recently placed upon the market a device which can be used to replace the rheostat and which will automatically adjust the filament temperature to the proper value. It does this without any attention on the part of the operator, when the usual six volt battery is used for filament lighting. As shown in the illustration, the device is quite simple. It can be mounted inside of a cabinet receiver or amplifier and takes less space than a rheostat. The claim that the device makes vacuum tube operation absolutely "foolproof" appears to be well founded, and, if it lives up to claims made for it, will be the means of saving many a dollar to the radio enthusiasts.

E. H. Benson Gives Today's Prize Story

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

Today's story for the radio prize story contest is entitled "A Test on the Wizard" and is contributed by E. H. Benson, of the Wizard Radio Distributors of 300 1/2 South Brand boulevard. Here it is:

All amateur radio operators are naturally desirous of ascertaining the operating radius of a crystal receiving set, and to this end, we decided to tie ourselves into the country adjacent to Glendale for the purpose of making a thorough test on the "Wizard Receiving Set" in order that we might be in a position to give accurate information as to its efficiency in picking up radio conversations. The result was interesting, both to ourselves and as data which can be authentically relied upon by prospective Wizard operators.

After motoring out to a point one mile this side of Long Beach we settled upon a position at random, and hooked up a temporary aerial upon a telegraph pole and the end of a ladder borrowed from a nearby house. We then secured permission to use a water pipe as a "ground" and were "tuning in" in the course of half an hour. Almost immediately came KJH (The Times Radio station), announcing the latest news bulletins which was followed by KFI (The Examiner), with news and music. At this juncture we were treated to a little confidential chatter between two parties at Long Beach and Avalon—the first of which was as follows: "a" hello, is this you Sims?" "b" yes, my, you sound as though you were next door. "a" this is Wilson speaking, did you receive a letter from us this morning? "b" no. "a" well, do you still receive your mail at Catalina? "b" yes, "a" you will receive a letter from us in the morning, and our bookkeeper made an error by sending you a check for $496.30 instead of $469.30, will you therefore kindly mail us your check for the difference? "b" all right, I suppose I will have to, but if this d— radio was not working I would have had the extreme pleasure of thinking I had made a little extra money for at least 24 hours longer. "a" so long, old man. "b" good-bye.

During the course of time the above conversation and general radio activity was being received, we had a most interesting audience in the person of the lady of the house on whose doorstep we had installed our receiving station, and answering a query from her we found, to our surprise, that she was under the impression we were receiving this radio conversation from the telephone or telegraph wires! We drew her attention to the fact that the pole was serving only in the capacity of an aerial, which position could be supplanted by any erection which stood at least 30 feet from the ground. We then explained in detail the working principle of radio (as clearly as we frail mortals can, for I am frank to say I consider most of us know very little about it), and invited her to listen in for a moment. This offer was eagerly accepted, and the many and varied expressions of surprise and wonder amply repaid us for our experiment. Just here it is interesting to know how many people, as in the above cited case, have read of the marvels of radio and yet have never taken the trouble to acquire any working knowledge on this latest colossal unit, which is playing and will in the future, play such an important part in the march of civilization. Electricity, the telephone, and automotive power, have all been tremendous factors in facilitating our march of progress, but it is questionable if any of these will have the far-reaching effects which radio promises us. For, in my humble opinion, we are but standing on the threshold of a vast unknown and just starting to lift the veil shielding a most unknown field which will engage our greatest minds of science for many years to come, as the field of study offered by wireless telephony is replete with problems for the mind of mere man to unravel.

For the amusement and general edification of the radio operating amateur I will unhesitatingly recommend a simple crystal set, as it will

Questions On Radio and Their Answers

Question: What do the letters QZ stand for in wireless telegraphy?
M. J. Glendale.

Answer: It means: "Send each word twice, I have difficulty in receiving you." The idea being, if some one were sending you a wireless telegraph message, and for some reason or other your receiver was not working good, or you were a "ham" operator, you would give the sender the QZ signal.

Question: Please tell me if a wireless operator on board ship is under the direct orders of any superior officer?—F. R., Glendale.

Answer: After a ship has gone familiarize the operator with radio principles, and, if carefully studied, lead to a larger field in radio as well as provide untold amusement and knowledge for the present. The air is full of song, story and the romance of humanity is at your door for the asking, so why not tune in?

beyond the three-mile limit, the captain is in supreme command of such ship, and the operator or any other member of the crew as well as the passengers, if any, must abide by any orders he sees fit to give. This is one of the unwritten laws of the sea and it is upheld by the courts.

Question: Is there a wireless school in Washington that is run by the government?—C. L., Glendale.

Answer: Other than the regular army and navy schools for enlisted men, I know of no such school. There is a private civilian school in Washington, at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth street, N. W., across from the Willard hotel, but the government has no particular supervision over it.

Question: A Los Angeles newspaper carried a story a while back to the effect that in the vicinity of Porterville, Calif., it was impossible for any receiver to get any wireless telephone communications. What is the cause of this?—E. T., Glendale.

Answer: No explanation has as yet been forthcoming as to the reason of this so-called wireless "no-man's-land." Aviators have demonstrated that there are certain parts of the country where there evidently appears to be so-called airless pockets, and their airplane suddenly drops for want of the supporting air, and it may be here is one of the pockets lying above the vicinity of Porterville that accounts for the absence of wireless telephone vibrations. However, nothing short of an actual demonstration with a good receiver and a good aerial would convince me that this story about Porterville is absolutely authentic. I have listened in on receivers right here in Glendale and never even got a whisper, in fact, it is quite a common occurrence, but a little investigation reveals that there is a wrong hook-up on the machine or some other trifle is wrong.

Nature tries to balance things. As a man grows "short" his face gets wrong.

THESE BOOKS WILL PROVE OF BENEFIT IN GARDENING

List of Horticultural Volumes at Glendale Library for Aid in Beautifying

It was the knowledge that in the spring and summer months the attention of the people is turned towards the planting of gardens and beautifying the surroundings of their home, and are also interested in flowers, that the members of the public library on Harvard street, of which Mrs. J. C. Danford is librarian, have prepared a list of horticultural books to be found on the shelves of that institution.

This list is quite complete and no doubt a great demand will be made for many of the volumes. The list is also especially timely coming as it does just before the exhibition of wild flowers to be held Monday at the library.

Books on flowers to be found in the juvenile department include the following:

"Wild Flowers Every Child Should Know" (Stack), "Popular Studies of California Wild Flowers" (Rice),
"Flowers of the Farm" (Cook),
"Flower Babies Book" (Miller),
"Wild Flower Children" (Gordon),
"Flower Children" (Gordon), "The Flowers" (Gerry), "A Treasury of Flower Stories" (McFee), "Book of Nature Myths" (Holbrook), "Language of the Flowers" (Greenaway),
"The Land of the Blue Flower" (Burnett), "Flower Day" (Denton), in her book, "All the Holidays",
"Nature Library—Wild Flowers" (Blanchan).

In Adult Department

Books on floriculture to be found in the adult department of the library include: "California Garden Flowers, Shrubs, Trees and Vines" (Wikson), "California Gardens" (Murmman), "Elements of Botany" (Gray), "Essentials of Botany" (Bessey), "Flora of Los Angeles and Vicinity" (Abrams), "Flora of Western-Middle California" (Jepson), "Fundamentals of Botany" (Gager), "Garden Beautiful in California" (Braunton), "Gardening in California, Landscape and Flowers" (McLaren), "How to Know the Wild Flowers" (Dana), "Language and Poetry of Flowers", "Myths and Legends of Flowers, Trees and Plants" (Skinner), "New Creations in Plant Life" (Harwood), "Our Early Wild Flowers" (Keeler), "Popular Botany" (Knight), "Popular Studies of California Wild Flowers" (Rice), "Roses and How to Grow Them", "Western Wild Flowers" (Armstrong), "Who's Who Among the Ferns" (Beesey), "Wild Flowers from the Mountains, Canyons and Valleys of California" (Cleck), "Wild Flowers of California" (Parsons), "With the Flowers and Trees in California" (Saunders).

The books on agriculture to be found in the adults' department cover both intensive and extensive gardening and all phases of farm life. The following books are included: "American Irrigation Farming" (Oll), "American Standard of Perfection" (Pierce), "Asparagus:
Its Culture for Home Use and for Market" (Hexamer), "Backyard Farming" (Boite), "Bean Culture" (Sevey), "Beginner in Poultry"
(Valentine), "Book of Asparagus"
(Holt), "Book of Useful Plants"
(Rogers), "Botany of Crop Plants"
(Robbins), "Cabbages, Cauliflower
and Allied Vegetables" (Allen),
"California Fruits and How to Grow
Them" (Wickson), "Call of the Hen" (Hogan), "Celery Culture"
(Beattie).

Date Culture Discussed

And there are also to be found:

"Date Culture in Southern California" (James & Cornell), "Date Growing" (Popenoe), "Diseases of Poultry" (Pearl, Service & Curtis),
"Egg Farming in California" (Weeks), "Farm Management" (Warren), "Farmer's Encyclopedia"
(Valentine), "Book of Asparagus"
(Holt), "Book of Useful Plants"
(Rogers), "Botany of Crop Plants"
(Robbins), "Cabbages, Cauliflower
and Allied Vegetables" (Allen),
"California Fruits and How to Grow
Them" (Wickson), "Call of the Hen" (Hogan), "Celery Culture"
(Beattie).

Every householder can now have better, sightlier lawns —with less effort, quicker, and more satisfactory results!

Professional gardeners know that after seeding and rolling, the most important factor making for smooth, velvety lawns is close cutting. Close cutting produces strong, healthy grass roots, develops density of growth (better coloration.

Close cutting is absolutely essential.
No lawn mower ever built can

City Withers Result Of Slump in Potash

LINCOLN, Neb.—Antioch, "The wonder city," rapidly is slipping back to Antioch, the flag station.

From a sleepy, sun-parched village of 200 inhabitants to a thriving manufacturing city of more than 5,000 was the almost overnight transformation wrought on Antioch by war. Thus the town acquired its sobriquet "Nebraska's Wonder City."

With the coming of peace there was no further excuse for Antioch's city. Its industry—potash—was dead.

Antioch, the flag station, in Western Nebraska, was surrounded by a chain of stagnant lakes, the waters of which were heavily impregnated with chemicals believed to have no commercial value. With the declaration of war it was discovered one of these deposits was potash. Government chemists made a favorable report on the waters, and Uncle Sam spent $5,000,000 in a string of potash refining plants and evaporating systems at Antioch. Lured by high wages, an army of 5,000 workers flocked to the place, built the mushroom city and "stuck around" until the armistice whistles blew.

With the potash market dead, one plant after another suspended. Antioch shriveled almost as rapidly as it had grown. The population that had spread out over an expanse of wind-swept prairie gradually concentrated into a few houses near the little red brick station—the flag station that served Antioch before the boom days.

Today less than 500 persons claim Antioch as their home, and of these 250 are said to be without occupation. Trains stop only on signal.

Zoologists agree that the bat is the most sensitive of animals.

Notable Pictures Are Coming, T. D. L. Screen

Ralph Allan's announcement, although brief, is one of the most important and interesting of late months pertaining to the theatrical future of the city. He says:

"The T. D. & L. theatre will present very soon to the public of Glendale the following list of notable film productions, all or any of which must be considered among the greatest of features yet produced. They are 'Smilin' Through,' featuring Norma Talmadge; 'The Masquerader,' by Richard Walton Tully, starring Guy Bates Post; Charles Chaplin in 'Pay Day'; Gloria Swanson and Rudolph Valentino in 'Beyond the Rocks.' Knowing these pictures from every angle, I consider all of them the finest, and feel deeply gratified in the opportunity of being able to offer them to the people of Glendale."

"Because of their extraordinary value and public appeal it will no doubt be interesting to know that they will be presented here, and practically within a short period of time. In my endeavor to give the people of Glendale the best in entertainment possible they will gladly welcome the above news with eager enthusiasm and delight."

WHY a Name —on— Sash and Doors?

The Dixon Sash and Door Company puts the above distinctive design on all its sash, doors, and glass for the same reason that other manufacturers of good merchandise stamp their brand on their products, whether it be soap, hardware or hats.

Goods thus marked are known as reliable merchandise. The manufacturer of a good product takes pride in it, and naturally wants to be given credit for the goodness he builds into it.

The Dixon Sash and Door Company believe that the buyer of sash and doors is entitled to the same protection that he gets on other merchandise. Insist on Dixon's "American Made," and your protection is assured.

BICYCLE BUSINESS IS BETTER'N EVER, SAYS DEALER

Bargain Prices on Wheels Make Them Very Popular, Practical, Pleasurable

The sale of bicycles is on the upward trend, according to William A. Pfeiffer of 110 South Maryland avenue. While the bicycle is extremely popular, with boys, who possess a feeling that it is their natural birthright, Mr. Pfeiffer calls attention to a very noticeable increase in sales to "grown-ups."

Chief among the reasons for the popular return of the bicycle, Mr. Pfeiffer added, is that the public is recognizing more and more each day the advantage bicycle riding has over other forms of transportation. The honest-to-goodness utility of the bicycle is realized when it is pointed out how important a part it plays in daily life.

Cost Less Now

The cost of a bicycle today is less than half of what one would sell for twenty years ago. A dollar then had greater purchasing value. The bicycle, therefore, is a bargain almost standing alone at present, as the one thing of value that may be bought for less than during the bicycle craze of 1898-99.

The streets in American cities were much worse than they are now, when bicycles were at the peak of popularity. The grading of country roads in rolling country had not, to any great extent, been an established custom. Riding a bicycle then was only feasible whenever the roads were reasonably dry. Winter riding outside the cities was not even encouraged to any marked degree.

Put to Good Use

The bicycle is a much more practical vehicle nowadays than during the height of its acceptance as a fad. Little does the present generation know that in the late '90s, hundreds of thousands of Americans bought bicycles on chattel mortgages.

The pleasurable exercise a bicycle affords is being realized increasingly by the average American. The money, time and temper it saves for those who adopt it for short trips that are a little too long to walk, readily accept it as the cheapest mode of transportation known to man.

Raising Livestock Is Revived in Mexico

MEXICO CITY.—Visions of an early return to the golden days of stock breeding that existed in Mexico before the days of revolutions have been magnified by the enthusiasm aroused by the race meet recently held here.

Before the devastating hand of civil war swept this republic Mexico City was the home of the best carriage and saddle horses and the finest equipages to be seen on this continent. It was rivaled only in France and England. Nearly every afternoon the principal thoroughfares of this oldest American capital were lined with the wonderful turnouts of the most exclusive society set.

But war and the advent of automobiles eliminated the horse, and it is only during the administration of President Obregon that general interest in breeding has been revived.

Mexico, a country almost without roads, must depend on the horse in the reconstruction period which is at hand and for many years to come.

Prior to 1910 the breeding of blooded horses was carried on extensively, but during the years of internal strife the large breeding farms were depleted and the industry practically abandoned. The arrival of the American horsemen with several hundred thoroughbreds immediately revived interest, with the result that many of the horses brought here to participate in the racing were purchased by prominent Mexican citizens.

Among the breeders who made purchases was General Perez Trevino, chief of the president's staff, who owns a large ranch in the state of Coahuila.

What's Chicken Dinner When Fires Are About?

COLUMBUS, Ind.—The hale and hearty fire laddies of Company No. 1, Columbus fire department, were all set to plunge into the business of concealing a chicken dinner served by the women of the United Brethren church, when, darn it!—the fire alarm clanged. The call of duty being more clamorous than the demands of the inner man, they reluctantly tore themselves away from the table and battled half an hour with the unspeakable blaze. Then they returned to their meal.

The chicken had scarcely been passed all the way around when the alarm sounded again, calling them back to extinguish the same fire, which had broken out again. Making sure that every member had been blackened, Company No. 1 went to the dining table a third time—but not to eat.

During their absence a cat had made himself at home and had consumed the fowl.

Jerusalem Is Made Airplane Terminus

WASHINGTON.—With the inauguration by the Palestine postal service of air mail routes between Palestine and Mesopotamia, "flying out of Jerusalem" is now a daily occurrence. The airplanes carry passengers and the service promises to grow in popularity, according to reports received by the department of commerce.

Exhaustive Review of Rates by Congressmen Show Basis Materials Hard Hit

By U. S. Press Association
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Transportation rates on products of agriculture, as on many other commodities, now "bear a disproportionate relation to the price of such commodities," and should be immediately reduced, according to findings of the joint congressional commission of agricultural inquiry, announced Congressman Anderson. Not only should these freight charges come down, the report declared, but in the future rate-making bodies and railroad traffic officers should give "greater consideration to the relative value of commodities in the making of rates," and let existing charges on high-priced finished products stand if necessary to remove cost burdens from basic materials.

Exhaustive review of the transportation situation has convinced the commission, Chairman Anderson said, that "pyramided and advanced" freight rates during war and following years "caused dislocation of long-standing relationships between rates on agricultural and industrial products, and between competitive enterprises and competitive territories," which dislocation should now be removed. The object of rate-making bodies should be, he said in presenting the commission's views, "to readjust rates so far as practicable to the relationship existing prior to 1918."

Petroleum For March

During March, according to the United States Geological Survey, new high records were made in daily average production and in the quantity of stocks of petroleum, and previous high records, in imports and consumption made in 1920 were closely approximated. Data just compiled show the daily averages for the month, stated in barrels: Production, 1,513,419; imports, 451,742; exports, 25,732; estimated consumption, 1,757,484. The disparity between supply and demand resulted in an increase during the month of pipe-line and tank-farm stocks of domestic petroleum and stocks of Mexican petroleum held in the United States by importers of 11,282,000 barrels, bringing the total storage on the last day of March up to 229,123,000 barrels, an amount equivalent to a supply for 140 days at the present rate of consumption.

The Cost of Living

"Necessary commodities are food, shelter, clothing, fuel and light, and sundries," said Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in discussing the cost of living. "If we take these commodities as representing the total needs of the average family of the wage earner," he observed, "it is estimated that 43.1 per cent of the family budget is spent for food, 17.7 per cent for shelter, 13.2 per cent for clothing, 5.6 per cent for fuel and light, and 20.4 per cent for sundries. If we compare the costs of these necessary commodities in July, 1914, with the costs in March, 1922, we find that they have increased about 54.7 per cent."

British Girls Joke At Suicide Threat

LONDON.—London girls now laugh heartily when their rejected suitors threaten to commit suicide; for cold, hard, unromantic statistics prove that it is not the young Romeo who ends his life in the Thames, but the well-worn business man who seeks escape from his financial worries.

Five hundred persons committed suicide in London last year, and, according to a carefully compiled analysis of the figures, only eight were under twenty years of age. The suicide age does not begin until forty is well in sight, and it does not reach its climax until forty-five. The statistics show:

Under ten none; ten to fifteen 1; fifteen to twenty, 7; twenty to twenty-five, 19; twenty-five to thirty-five, 51; thirty-five to forty-five, 108; forty-five to fifty-five, 146; fifty-five to sixty-five, 91; over sixty-five, 76.

This proves that it is the afternoon and evening of life that are most dangerous from the suicidal point of view—the time when ambition unrealized begins to tell. The rate of suicides in London is only about one in 11,969, which, in view of the tremendous distress which has befallen the city during the last year, is regarded by the authorities as being surprisingly low.

Fewer Admirals but More Teachers Wanted

PARIS.—"Give us fewer admirals and more university professors," is the demand of one of the weekly political reviews. The paper cites Le Journal as to the plentiful crop of admirals in the French navy.

"At Brest there is a vice-admiral, two contre-admirals, another admiral commanding the division of schools, a post recently created to occupy more admirals; a fifth admiral commands the division of the Voltaire, Diderot and Condorcet, old egg-shells out of fashion and without value; a sixth admiral commands the cruiser Michelet and Victor Hugo, which are not worth more."

"On the other hand the appropriations for our faculties and laboratories have necessitated reducing the number of professors," says Le Carnet de la Semaine.

Finds Jewels Thrust Into Bag by Thief

MURRAY CITY, Ohio.—On her recent return trip from Florida, Mrs. Sarah Bridgewater, a local resident, carried a traveling bag which had a ripped place.

Three weeks after her arrival here, Mrs. Bridgewater found that a considerable amount of jewelry had been thrust into the traveling bag through the ripped place. Suspecting that a thief hid his stolen plunder in her bag while on a sleeping car, Mrs. Bridgewater is making inquiry in an effort to locate the owner of the jewelry.

HEY, MAUD!

Maud Muller on a summer day Raked the meadow sweet with hay; The Judge came riding by that way, And thus she heard him harshly say: "Wake up there, Maud!"

Maud raised aloft her raking tool And shrilled with anger, "Darned old fool!" The Judge replied, "Fair maid, keep cool; I was but speaking to my mule. Step lively, Maud!"

"And you tell me several men proposed marriage to you?" he said, savagely. "Yes; several," the wife replied. "Well, I only wish you had married the first fool who proposed." "I did."

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU WILL BE DECENTRALIZED

Experiment on Pacific Coast in Effort to Better Serve Tax Paying Public

By U. S. Press Association
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Decentralization of the internal revenue bureau at Washington to permit settlement of claims and auditing of returns to be handled in the originating districts is under consideration. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon favors a proposal that such a plan be given a trial in the four Pacific coast districts. If found feasible, it may be adopted in the sixty-four revenue districts throughout the country.

Approximately 400,000 tax claims, approximating $1,000,000,000, remain to be settled, it was stated, and the opinion was advanced that through decentralization of the work, which would bring the government to the people, rather than requiring claimants to come to Washington, pending cases could be more rapidly disposed of.

Labels Must Describe

Labels or brands under which articles are sold, when open to construction in the mind of the purchasing public that they describe the component ingredients or materials used in the manufacture of the articles, must clearly and definitely describe them, the supreme court held, in an opinion delivered by Justice Brandeis in a case brought by the Winsted Hosiery company of Connecticut. Justice McReynolds dissented.

The opinion of the court, while confined to the particular issues presented, will, it is stated, have material effect in broadening the jurisdiction of the federal trade commission in such trade practices. Chairman Gaskill, of the commission, described the decision as a great victory.

Measuring Up the Job

In the past thirty days employment figures have shown a decided and continued upward trend in all sections of the country. A bulletin from the president's conference on unemployment, based on figures from the United States employment service, states that for every 100 jobs now available there are now 160 applicants, as against 226 in January. In other words, where there was work for only 44 per cent of the seekers three months ago, there are now jobs for 62 per cent.

1920 Mortgage Statistics

Homes and farms occupied by their owners and valued at $31,708,000,000 were security for mortgages totaling $11,001,000,000, or 34.7 per cent of their value, in 1920, according to a preliminary report issued by the census bureau. This, it was shown, was a decrease in the ratio of debt to value from 37.5 per cent in 1910, the only previous census year in which mortgage statistics were obtained. The total number of homes not on farms in 1920 was placed at 17,600,000, of which 7,195,000, or 40.9 per cent were owned by the occupants. Of these owned homes, 2,855,000 or 39.7 per cent were mortgaged.

Search for Captain Kidd's Gold Stops

INDIANAPOLIS.—Pursuing the trail of Captain Kidd is a fruitless pastime, in the opinion of J. P. Dunn, who has just returned to Indianapolis after a romantic quest of buried treasure in Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Backed by a group of hard-headed Hoosier business men, Dunn, who formerly was city controller of Indianapolis, set out more than three months ago to seek the traditional "lost" Spanish gold mine and, incidentally, to investigate mineral deposits of the West Indies.

Now he is back, bronzed by the tropical sun and smiling, but of the opinion that it is "not worth while" to seek Captain Kidd's gold.

Dunn visited the old monastery at San Almerzo De Macoris and delved into ancient manuscripts setting forth the legend of the lost treasure. In looking over the time-worn records, Dunn said, he was assisted by Padre Hueros Pasatros, who is in charge of the archives.

The documents inspected related the story as told by a native woman, Almacresta, said to have been a passenger of the galleon Isabel La Catolica, which was captured by Captain Kidd. The pirate chief, according to the record, was believed to have looted the "lost" mine and to have transferred the gold from the La Catolica to another vessel, in which he set out to find a safe hiding place for the treasure. Some treasure-seekers, Dunn recalled, have traced this voyage to a point on the New Jersey coast.

Notwithstanding that, so far as uncovering any buried treasure was concerned, Dunn's quest was without result, and that the traces of manganese he found in the islands were not sufficient to warrant exploitation, Dunn reports he "thoroughly enjoyed" the expedition.

Course in Diplomacy Put in Tokio College

TOKIO.—A special course of study to be known as the Hepburn course is to be established at the Tokio Imperial university for the benefit of students aspiring to study constitutional development and diplomacy. The new course will be under direction of Prof. Yasaka Takagi, who is expected to return from the United States in the near future. It is founded on donations made by the late American banker, A. B. Hepburn, who visited Japan recently.

Get the Best Lumber for the Purpose---

Many of our patrons have formed the very practical habit of informing us of their requirements, and leaving the selection of lumber grades to our judgment.

They have done this because, through experience in dealing with us, they have found that we can be relied upon to supply the right kind of lumber for every requirement.

Sometimes our recommendations are for higher grades than they had in mind using; sometimes we advise lower grades than they were contemplating. But every time the grade we suggest is the BEST lumber for the purpose.

Home Building Counsellors

You should have this kind of lumber service when you build. You should have the benefit of intelligent advice and conscientious service. Make your lumber dealer your home building counsellor. Trust his judgment as to the kind of lumber to use.

We will gladly assume the responsibility of furnishing you with the BEST building materials for the purpose; and we guarantee that in the end the cost will be no higher, if as high, than if you bought by guess and chance.

Ask for Mr. Boyd—He Will Advise You Right

Color of Booze Not Detectable by Odor

INDIANAPOLIS.—Sergeant Cox, of the Indianapolis police force, one of whose special chores is to sniff the breath of policemen for traces of alcoholic aroma, admits that while he can detect a whisky breath "a mile away—almost," his olfactory sense is by no means keen enough to establish the color of the liquor which scents the breath which he smells. Red or white, his nostrils can't tell.

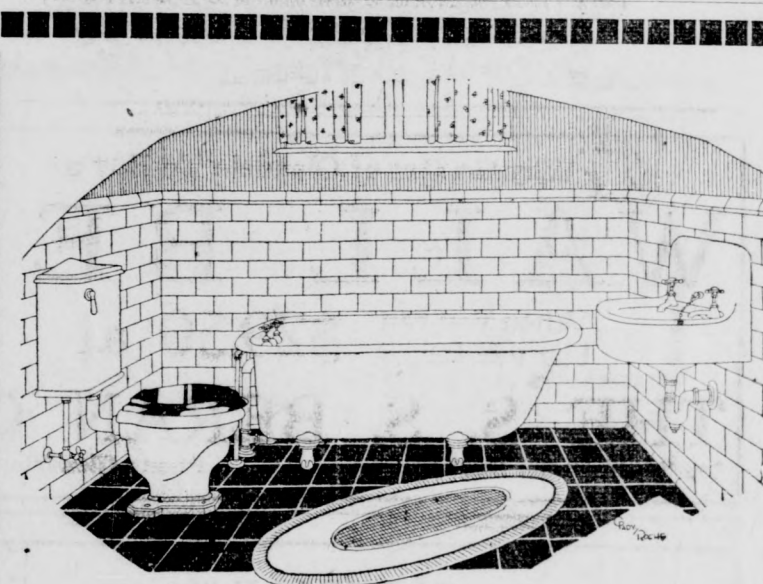

This frank confession was made at a hearing of the Board of Safety on charges of intoxication preferred against Patrolman William Schlagen. Ex-City Judge Walter Pritchard, who was Schlagen's attorney, boasted that his own olfactory accomplishments even go into the color of liquor.

"There's as much difference between 'white mule' and bonded whisky on a man's breath as between the scent of roses and carnations," he declared.

To which Cox replied: "All I know is that he had been drinking whisky."

The color of the liquor in the case was still a moot question when the board took the patrolman's fate under advisement.

Experience is a teacher of mankind and some men will learn of no other.

STATE RIGHTS AND LADY ASTOR IN LIMELIGHT

Correspondent for Evening News Writes on Interesting Topics at Nation's Capital

By J. E. JONES

Special to The Evening News
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—Visitors to the house of representatives' committee on judiciary might be excused if they suspected that Conan Doyle, in his spectacular demonstrations concerning the return to earth of departed spirits, had succeeded in bringing back the influence of Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry, since the theories and doctrines of government which those great patriots preached in the first days of the American Republic were voiced in the same old way—and almost in the same old words—at a recent hearing “to limit the jurisdiction of United States District and Circuit Courts in certain cases.” There was under consideration a bill introduced by Congressman Bacharach of New Jersey, proposing to amend the laws relating to the judiciary, so as to take from the Federal courts the right to interfere with the orders of an administrative board or commission of any state. This phantom theory that it is dangerous to the public to permit the Federal Government to enact and carry on successful governing methods was nearly wrecked in the first days of the American government. A civil war divided the north and the south when the same principle was at stake. Countless battles have been fought in congress and in every state legislature to determine the rights that were finally accorded to the federal government to “regulate” the railroads and many other public utilities.

“Mandate From People”

Some eighteen hundred years ago Marcus Aurelius discovered that “the past is gone, the future yet unseen.” The best intellect of two centuries of American civilization has agreed that the future yet unseen can be trusted in its common government of all the people. And, therefore, why not suspect Conan Doyle and his occult agencies, when we find appearing before a powerful committee of congress the hallowed political descendant of Jefferson in the flesh of Tammany's distinguished mayor? Mayor Hylan purported to tell the committee that he brought to them a “mandate from the people,” and he explained the mandate to be that the federal government should turn back the hands of the clock and return to the judicial processes of “state rights” as paramount to the federal judiciary. Instances were cited by the proponents of the scheme to “reform” the judiciary to show that the federal courts were accustomed to refuse the common rights claimed by the common people. Mayor Hylan's “mandate” was rather ruthlessly dissected before his own eyes, and the congressmen must have persuaded him that his election was due to many political circumstances, none of which could be dignified as a “mandate” that affected principles of government involved in practices in our federal and state courts.

There does not seem to be the least likelihood that congress will disturb existing conditions of jurisdiction in the federal and state courts; and there is not the slightest likelihood that the proposals of the Bacharach bill will be accepted. The matter is interesting principally because the agitation of “state rights” seems to be a good deal like coal strikes that show up every year. It does, however, strengthen one's respect for our government when congress refuses to be stampeded on these measures. In the case of the Bacharach bill, Mayor Hylan and the politicians who accompanied him, were politely and firmly given to understand that they might go along with their affairs and roll their hoops.

Wonderful Lady Astor

Lady Astor told an audience the other night that she was a “Virginia patriot, and a very ardent one.” It is true that she has returned to her native America to speak as a British member of the House of Commons. But it is doubtful whether England has the deep admiration for this wonderful woman that is being shown her by her former countrymen who are so proud of the fact that an American woman was the first of her sex to secure election to the great English lawmaking body. The whole-some philosophies of life voiced by this remarkable woman are, perhaps, responsible more than ought else for her uncommon popularity. In an inimitable style—something like that of Roosevelt—she has dressed up the old truisms and moralities and flashed them out to her audiences. Lady Astor explained herself on one occasion when she said: “I'm one of those strange people who are never so happy or gay as when I am with people who are trying to be good. . . . Christianity has not failed, and it is the only thing in the world that never will fail. But a great many Christians have failed.” Lady Astor says that children should be told the facts about evil. “The fascination of evil is the biggest lie in the world. . . . Don't let others laugh at those of us who are trying to be good. Laugh at them first.” In this manner this charming woman spreads her whole-some doctrines. She is gifted with a delightful manner, and a personality that leaves no doubt as to her sincerity. It is little wonder that she has captivated the people of two continents.

Strikes Takes Course

Despite the fact that congress has had a committee investigating the coal strike, and that in addition the department of justice is busy with prosecutions in relation to the industrial upheaval, there is an apparent disposition in the national capital to let the coal strike take its course. As there is neither coal shortage nor cold weather to aggravate the situation, the public interest in the strike is not acute outside of the regions in which the mines are located. Some stimulus has been given to the suggestion that labor and arbitration boards be set up by the government, but in congress, where measures along these lines are pending, there appears to be an inertia which promises very little for the immediate success of any such legislative methods. It is plain that “watchful waiting” will continue to be the government policy with reference to the coal strike.

Fancy Salaries

Congress has been having a hard time with the shipping board appropriations measures. Many of the salaries paid to officials of the board are in excess of the highest amounts that are paid officials like cabinet officers, senators and bureau chiefs. The shipping board runs behind about a million dollars a month, and the theory in hiring men who are “supposedly” expert in the shipping business, at salaries of $15,000 and $20,000 a year, contemplates the growth of shipping activities to a point where the board will not drain the government quite so hard. It sounds well—but congress does not appear to agree with the sound—and it is pointed out that government operation of the shipping business has thus far shown no evidence that it ever will be successful. To this conclusion even the shipping board agrees.

CAN BE SUED, IS DECISION

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the emergency fleet corporation could be sued on its contracts in the federal courts. Chief Justice Taft dissented from the decision of the majority of the court, which was read by Associate Justice Holmes.

Flappers Recall Styles of '80s When Their Mothers Criticise Style of Dress

CHICAGO.—"Now when I was a girl," began mother as she cast a disapproving eye over daughter's rather frank shirtwaist and none too bashful hosiery.

"Oh, no, you didn't, mother dear," daughter rejoined, "you wore 'em just about the same as we do."

And forthwith daughter, who has been to the University of Chicago, springs Godey's "Lady's Book and Magazine," volume of 1882, upon her defenseless mother and shows her the following discourse concerning feminine styles of the period:

"The new spring costumes have long, smooth-fitting waists that outline the figure from throat to hips. The general effect is long, slender waists."

"Colored hosiery continues popular. Black silk stockings are the most stylish. Terra cotta and rose are new shades; others are in dark garnet, cardinal and bright turkey red, blue, tan and bronze. Lace work, open designs and hand embroidery are the ornaments for hose."

From the year 1832 to 1882 Mr. Godey's periodical was the ne plus ultra of style publications. Therefore, if Mother was in style, daughter concludes, she must have arrayed herself something after the manner portrayed by the fashion journal of four decades ago.

Perhaps the answer to where the styles of today come from may be found in the assertion of authorities of the University of Chicago that the "Lady Book" has become so popular that additional copies are being sought to supply the demand. Before planning their spring wardrobe the co-eds are joining the waiting list to get a peek at the accounts of the styles of bygone days. Even if they don't get such a lot of swell ideas on how to array themselves they get some fine material for argument to combat parental aversion to the freedom of modern styles.

CHINESE WILL AID IN ENTERTAINING REALTY MEN

National Convention Program at San Francisco Includes Many Novel Features

The Chinese Chamber of Commerce will assist in the entertainment of the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in San Francisco, May 31 to June 3, according to information received today from Tom Ingersoll, secretary of the national association who is in San Francisco to arrange convention details, by C. D. Thom, president of the Glendale Realty board.

Chinese business men, Mr. Ingersoll said, are planning a number of unusual and interesting features. They have appointed committees and raised considerable money to provide a truly Oriental and extremely unusual reception to the visitors to their strange little corner of the world.

To See Chinatown

Walking trips in addition to auto trips will be conducted to Chinatown each morning before the convention starts. Trips to the business and industrial sections will also be arranged. A committee of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce will greet the visitors to their little bit of transplanted Orient and will guide them through devious and mystic byways and shops and to places of interest not seen by the casual tourist.

On the morning of June 5, Irving B. Hiett, of Toledo, president of the national association, will drive from the first tee of the course at Del Monte starting the first annual golf tournament for the San Francisco cup. A large gallery of realtors of the United States and Canada will be on hand to follow President Hiett, John Weaver of Washington, a former president of the national association, and other well known performers with the gutta-percha pellet over the course.

Prizes Hung Up

The San Francisco board has donated a beautiful silver and wood trophy to be contested for annually at the national conventions. It will be awarded the winning real estate board. To the golfer making the best score will be awarded an individual prize.

Railroad officials have announced that the fifteen coach special train of the Chicago board to leave for the west on May 19 is not only the biggest special train scheduled for the San Francisco convention, but will be the largest special train that has ever pulled out of a Chicago terminal. The train will be split and double headed over the mountains, but will be assembled again and will run into the Los Angeles terminal as one great unit. At Los Angeles the Chicago realtors and their guests join the motor caravan to San Francisco.

An invention in the form of a new roller bearing for freight cars and passenger coaches cuts down friction some 90 per cent and abolishes the hot box entirely. The gross weight of a car and its load amounted to 122,600 pounds. This car was pushed sixty feet in one direction and then pushed back again to the starting point by one man in a recent test. After 11 months' service the bearings were found to be in as good condition as when they were installed.

Manufacturing Now on Westward Trend, Trade Record Shows

By U. S. Press Association.

NEW YORK—May 5.—The manufacturing industry of the United States is slowly moving from the place of its beginning, the Atlantic frontage, toward the great interior which produces the bulk of the manufacturing material and the fuel with which it is assembled and transformed into the finished form, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York City. The area occupying the Atlantic frontage from Maine to Florida the birthplace of our manufacturing industry, New England, the Middle states, the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, and Florida, produced in 1919, the latest census year, says the Trade Record, slightly less than one-half of the manufactures of the country as against more than two-thirds a half century earlier. Stated statistically, the seventeen states of the Atlantic frontage supplied 68 per cent of the manufactures recorded by the census of 1870, 64 per cent in 1880, 56 per cent in 1900, and 49.7 per cent in the census of 1920. The total output of the manufacturing establishments of the Atlantic frontage in 1919 was eleven times as much in value, as fifty years earlier, while the output of the other parts of the country was 22 times as much as a half century earlier.

This westward movement of the manufacturing industry is chiefly into the Mississippi valley, which produces most of the cotton and wool and iron and copper and lead and timber of the country, and also the bulk of the fuel with which it is moved to the great manufacturing centers and there transformed into manufactures. In population, that other factor in manufacturing, the Atlantic states, show an increase of 137 per cent in the last fifty years, and the other sections of the country an increase of 205 per cent in the same period.

Alarm of Fire Halts Dentistry on Feline

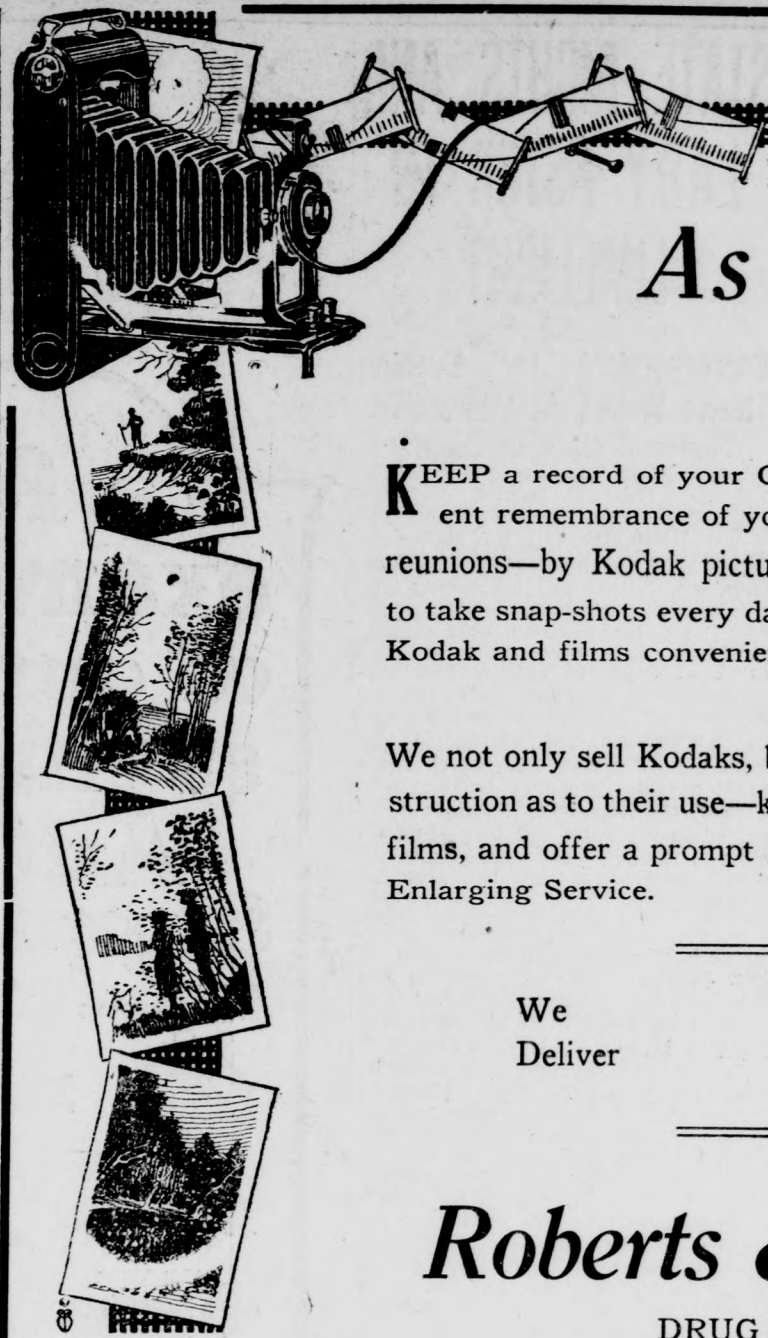

CHICO, Cal.—Dentistry is an innovation with certain members of the Chico fire department, but not to such an extent that regular duties are neglected. As a consequence, Demosthenes, the fire department cat, suffered.

Demosthenes is a crier of rare form and of such ability that A. Shubert and Captain Clarence Baker went to the root of the reason—a swollen pair of teeth. They tied the cat on its back, got a pair of pinchers from tool kit, and proceeded to jerk out the swollen tooth, without antiseptic or painkiller.

But, in the process, the fire alarm was turned in, and Shubert and Baker left the cat tied on its back. Upon their return to the fire house the cat had nearly lost its meow. The molar was jerked quickly and the cat again given its freedom.

The wooden brigantine Essex, the flagship of the American fleet which broke up the slave trade on the west coast of Africa, is to be stripped of its engines and beached at Duluth as an armory and station ship for Minnesota naval reserves.

After lying exposed to the weather in the mountains of British Columbia for ten years, a gold watch was found recently by a mountain climber and restored to its owner, who declares it to be running and keeping perfect time.

VAST SUM WILL BE R. B. TAPP ASSERTS SPENT TO WATER ARID LANDS

$134,000,000 Is Asked Of Congress For Irrigation Projects; Some in West

Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, May 5.—The expenditure of $134,000,000 on reclamation projects throughout the country has been recommended to Congress by the department of the interior. Of this enormous sum $16,- 200,000 is allocated to completion of eleven projects in eleven western and southwestern states. Work on all of them is now under way.

The sum of $25,000,000 is set aside, under the department's recommendations, for immediate use on four proposed projects in Arizona and California. It would also take $90,000,000 more to complete these projects, the department estimated.

The projects which the department desired completed and the amount recommended to each, follow:
Grand Valley, Colo., $1,200,000;
Boise, Idaho, $1,200,000; Minidoka,
Idaho, $2,000,000; San River, Mont., $800,000; North Platte, Nebraska and Wyoming, $2,000,000; Newlands, Nev., $1,000,000; Rio Grande,
New Mexico and Texas, $1,400,000;
Klamath, Oregon and California, $1,- 000,000; Yakima, Wash., $3,600,- 000; Riverton, Wyo., $1,250,000, and Shoshone, Wyo., $750,000.

Dam Cost Is Enormous
The expenditure of $5,000,000 on the Boulder Canyon dam, in Arizona, was also recommended. The department estimated that this project would cost $50,000,000 more to complete. An estimate of $15,000,000 was set aside for the All-American canal, in California, with an additional estimate of $20,000,000 to complete the project.

The department urged the expenditure of $4,000,000 on the Parker project, in Arizona, for which $10,- 000,000 additional would be needed to complete. In the same state $4,- 000,000 was also suggested for the

NOW IS TIME TO EXAMINE TIRES

'Spring Housecleaning' Will Save Lots of Trouble on Road, Expert States

Thoroughly examine your tires before real hot weather arrives.

Now is the best time for a "spring housecleaning" on tires.

"That is the advice of R. B. Tapp, local manager of the Automobile
Tire company store at 211 South
Brand boulevard.

An examination of the tires now will detect injuries in rims and rubber which will save trouble while out on the road. He adds:

"As you take each tire off inspect it inside and out and repair little tread cuts, look carefully on the inside for breaks in the fabric which might give way any time and pinch
the tube, thus causing a blowout.

"Clean the mud or sand boils and repair them. Remove grease and oil from the tires with a cloth and gasoline. Examine the clincher rims for irregularities and paint them with aluminum enamel.

Have Wheels Run True
"Remove tubes from casing and use a little tale to prevent tubes from vulcanizing to the inside of the tire.
Have the wheels lined up to make sure they are running true, especially the front ones. Many a tire has gone to the morgue after having been run only a few hundred miles because of a wheel that was out of alignment.

"The Automobile Tire Company will be very glad to extend the use of their service department to aid motorists in looking over their tires.
There is a Weaver tire changer at your service which makes the job a convenient recreation."

San Carlos project, which would need $10,000,000 more to finish.

Supporters of the reclamation program hope to get the money appropriated in an independent measure, and several bills seeking this end are now before the House and Senate.

ARMOUR DECLARES U. S. BUSINESS CAN GO FORWARD

Considers Farmer Is Hinge on Which Full Prosperity Will Swing Back Again

By THOMAS WRIGLEY
Written for International News Service
KANSAS CITY—J. Ogden Armour, head of the Armour packing interests, is one of the country's great industrial giants who sees prosperity ahead.

And the farmer, he says, is the hinge upon which the country will swing again to normalcy in business. Just as soon as good crops are assured this summer "things will begin to happen in the industrial world," Mr. Armour asserts.

Mr. Armour was interviewed on business conditions while here to attend a hearing before a commissioner of the department of agriculture.

"The great amount of unrest that has predominated in this country for the past few years gradually is wearing away as people become more concerned regarding the condition of the country," he declared.

"The people of America are beginning to think coherently again and business men are learning to appreciate small but sure profits. These are two of the surest signs of returning prosperity."

"Reports from all parts of the country claim bumper crops for 1922. If these are assured the farmer will have attained the position he lost with the financial crash of two years ago."

"Prices for his produce will reach a fair level and he, in turn, will be able to buy his commodities at a fair price."

"When these two conditions prevail none of the rest of us needs to worry. The farmer is the hinge on which this country will be turned back to prosperity once more."

"Contrary to the general opinion, the meat packers are not making money. We have had so many things to readjust that we have not yet become stabilized on the new basis of the business world. With the return of good crops and the normal output of livestock each year, the packing industry will follow in the natural course."

Squaring his shoulders, Mr. Armour talked emphatically on the business man who at this period thinks and acts only in terms of the dollar sign.

"People have been narrow-minded in principle," he exclaimed. "During the last few years men have forgotten to think except in terms of dollars. They now are getting better in mind, and that alone will be the greatest help in returning to normalcy."

Here Is the Latest Fad for Flappers

Left to right: Mrs. Ada and Silvia Bring; Miss Edith Berkeley of New York, introducing the idea to the Easter throng on the boardwalk at Atlantic City, New Jersey. "Blimbo" is made of rubber and inflated like an auto tire, with earrings and cannibal garb. It is the flappers' latest "pet."

MRS. E. R. EAREL DIVORCED

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—Coming all the way from Quincy, Ill., where she was said to be widely known in society and club circles, Mrs. Emma R. Earel was granted a divorce by Judge Hahn from John William Earel, wealthy physician of Long Beach.

Although the decree was granted on the ground of desertion, Mrs. Earel named another woman as co-respondent and cited instances in Quincy and afterwards in Bakersfield, when she and Dr. Earel were said to have been seen together.

$40,000 FOR LOST LOVE

DETROIT, May 5.—Charging alienation of his wife's affections William E. Bryon, wealthy New York leather manufacturer, filed suit here for $40,000 against Jose Beatty, president of the Beatty Motor Sales company, Detroit. Bryon alleges that Beatty visited his wife when she was alone in Kingston, N. Y., in October, 1921, and again in November.

Detweiler Brothers Purchase Store Here

J. R. Detweiler and his brother, H. W. Detweiler, recently from Phoenix, Arizona, have purchased the Nussbaum Grocery at 244 No. Brand boulevard. The brothers are experienced grocery men and will carry the best grade of merchandise, they state. F. J. Friskie, who has been in charge of the meat department, will remain in that capacity with the new firm. The name of the store has been changed to The Glendale Grocery Company.

TRY TO UNRAVEL MYSTERY

HOOPESTON, Ill., May 5.—Failure of public officials to run down the slayer of Miss Gertrude Hanna, former choir singer, whose body was found six days ago in the basement of a parsonage, today aroused townspeople to propose the organization of a vigilance committee and the employment of outside detectives to unravel the mystery.

DEBT PAYMENTS TO BIG U. S. WORRY ENGLISHMEN

Various Schemes Put Forward on Way to Shift Burden of War Obligations

By DAVID M. CHURCH
Written for International News Service
LONDON.—Although British officialdom is apparently reconciled to the fact that the war debt to America must be paid there continues to be a considerable agitation about this matter from the public.

The latest scheme to be put forth by which the British debt to America would be scaled down is that the United States should accept liability for all bonds issued by the various states of the Union which are now held by British owners.

"The British public is probably quite unaware that as many as eight states forming integral parts of the United States (just as much as, say, Wales forms part of the British Empire) are in debt, principally to the English investor, in a sum little short of 200,000,000 pounds sterling," declares an article in the Saturday Review.

Should Be Acknowledged
"Surely the time has arrived when the debt of the United States (through its subsidiary states), amounting to 200,000,000 pounds sterling, should be acknowledged by that great republic and set off against the 900,000,000 pounds sterling due to them from the people of Great Britain. Whereas we find a fresh and unexpected claim against us for over 50,000,000 pounds sterling has just been delivered in respect to the U. S. army of occupation in Germany—a pretty substantial twisting of the lion's tail."

Scope Is More Limited
"If we wrote off the whole of our Allied debt and any further claim upon Germany beyond the handing over to America of bonds sufficient to repay our debt to the United States a very long step would have been taken toward the reduction of the fantastical structure of international indebtedness which would threaten Europe with bankruptcy if anybody believed that it had much real meaning. But since, as has been shown, there seems to be little or no possibility that America will take the opportunity that fate has put in her hands of acting as the savior of the international financial position, it remains for this country to do what it can, though the scope of its action is naturally much more limited."

These are but a few of the suggestions which are being set forth daily, but all hope has gone in official quarters that the debts to America can ever be cancelled. And this last hope is a sore point, as was recently evidenced when, Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, announced rather defiantly in the House of Commons that he would be the last to ask the United States for a further extension on the debts.

Convict Carves Table for Attorney-General

WASHINGTON.—A handsome teakwood table of rare design stands in the Attorney-General's office at Washington.

It is a specimen of the skill and workmanship of a convict at Atlanta prison. The table was a gift to Attorney-General Daugherty. It was sent to him with the compliments of the man who is confined behind penitentiary bars for a serious crime.

Twenty-one members of the League of Nations have failed to pay their subscriptions for 1921, according to an announcement in the English House of Commons.

Peggy Joyce Anxious to Return to U. S. A.

PARIS, May 5.—"Buy me a ticket for the first ship sailing for the United States," cried Peggy Joyce, when she returned from an automobile ride and found a cablegram from her mother quoting newspaper reports saying that Peggy was dying. It is believed that this report emanated from the rumor that Peggy had taken an overdose of veronal.

Peggy was accompanied on the automobile ride by Henri Letellier, multimillionaire newspaper owner, who, it is reported, may marry Peggy. It was to Letellier that Peggy directed her command to lose no time in buying her a steamship ticket.

Jack Dempsey, who rushed here from Berlin, it is reported, in response to a telegram from Peggy, is registered at the Claridge, but was absent all day. His friends say he was buying another dog to add to the collection he brought with him from Berlin. Both Dempsey and Peggy deny that they have seen each other since the former's return.

News Defeat Causes Republican Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Recovering from the acute shock administered in the Indiana primary, political Washington set about today to ferret out the reasons underlying the smashing defeat suffered by the Republican organization, both state and national, at the hands of Albert J. Beveridge, who, as a Progressive for the last ten years, has been an open enemy of organized Republicanism.

The Beveridge victory over Senator Harry S. New, an acknowledged administration spokesman, has jarred the "regular" Republican organization at Washington severely. Republican leaders in the senate and in the administration generally had expected New to come home easily, and the suddenness of the shock left them gasping.

The Democrats, of course, were exuberant today. They were twitting their Republican friends in the capitol cloak rooms and wherever politicians gathered. To the Democrats the Beveridge victory spells a "repudiation of the administration" and presages Democratic success next November.

Russia May Apply to U. S. for Loan

MOSCOW, May 5.—If the Geneva conference fails, Russia will approach the United States for a loan offering railroad concessions as collateral, according to an exclusive statement to the International News Service, by M. Stekolov, editor of the communist organ Izvestia and chief of the Soviet's publicists.

"If the international economic conference fails, it will be due mainly to the absence of the United States," said Stekolov.

Furthermore, if the conference fails, Russia will approach the United States for a loan. We are ready to offer the United States railroad concessions in Siberia and believe we can become the greatest market in the world for American trade.

"Russian and American economic interests do not clash. Russia is the only country which could help the United States fight Japan. At the same time America could help Russia to rid herself of her undesirable guests."

Steklov's references to "undesirable guests" was a thrust at Japanese occupation of Eastern Siberia.

The Army Air Service of Sweden reports that a six-mile section of telegraph cable was successfully laid by an airplane in eight minutes. Six of the eight minutes were spent in flight and the other two in making connections.

British Girls Flock to Colored Lingerie

LONDON.—Summer is ushering in a riot of colors in women's clothes. This has extended even to lingerie. Colored lingerie in the past has favored pale shades, but now dainty garments in deep orange, rich red, purple and magenta have made their appearance.

Maggie tints, too, are becoming popular for evening wear, and it is possible to have corsets made to match.

A five-room house has been turned over to the Carl Schurz school of Chicago, and the girls attending this school will know how to care for it from top to bottom. Mondays they will occupy the kitchen, learning how to cook. Tuesday is sewing day and Wednesday the house is to be scrubbed from cellar to attic. Thursday they will wash clothes and iron them and Friday the girls will have a course in millinery.

Free Street Car Fares Are Urged for Pupils

CHICAGO.—Free street car fares for school kiddies is advocated by L. J. Marienberger, teacher of romance languages in the Lane Technical High School.

"In many cases," he says, "parents can ill afford to spare the money for transportation. If the traction company cannot give them free rides the Board of Education should provide the fares."

The matter is to be put up to Mayor William Hale Thompson.

The public highways of the largest national parks are given over to monopolized transportation, according to reports. In Yellowstone National park, it is said, the traveler in an automobile pays $7.50 toll and still does not have the road rights while on the road. The traveler cannot start early but must wait until the monopoly cars have started.

YOUTH'S FOUNT IS DECLARED SCARCE IN SHANGHAI

American Women in Orient Would Pay High for Aid to Modern Beauty, Claim

By EDNA LEE BOOKER.
Written for International News Service
SHANGHAI.—Shanghai needs a "number one top side heaven pig-con" American beauty parlor.
There is a French parlor here and a Russian attempt. But what would the American women in Shanghai and the tourists passing through give for a 1922 variety of a "homeside" shop where one could get violet rays and manicures and face packs and eyebrow plucking sessions, and permanent waves and real honest-to-goodness manicures? Nobody knows!

The two beauty parlors are run by men and cater especially to the French and Russian women, so that it is very difficult for the American women to receive attention unless the appointment is made several days in advance.
And very few of the late "Fountain of Youth" discoveries have made their way to Shanghai, where,
by the way, they are needed badly, because the climate has a way of fading the beauty of the "foreign" women.

Traveling "Amahs" Besides the beauty parlors—which give only shampoos, plain facials and crude manicures—the little traveling "manicure amahs."

Any number of Chinese women, trained by their "missies," other amahs or in America, where they accompanied a family returning to the States "on leave" as a baby amah and who learned the secrets of the profession while there, go from house to house in answer to a call from the "missie."

With their manicure tools and perhaps a bottle of hair tonic tied up in a square cloth, they enter, in their blue coats and trousers, with a smiling "Good morning, missie," and at once begin manicuring, shampooing the hair, giving a body massage or a scalp treatment.

The little amahs, who speak
"pigeon" English, take their calling very seriously and scold if "missie" has touched her nails since the previous manicure and offer to make her hair grow "plenty" provided she will receive scalp treatments (rubbing and brushing) for two months.

Gossiping Is Forte
Incidentally, the amahs are the greatest little gossipers in the world.
They become very intimate with the American women—seeing them in their boudoir every week and chatting about every subject. They notice the pictures on the dressing table and carry the news as to which "master's picture missie have got on table." They are keenly interested in the engagements of their "missies" and glory in their popularity.
They know who sends the girls candy and Christmas presents and often start rumors of engagements by announcing: "I think Missie—plenty soon catchee one piece master.
Plenty time have seen him—go party—go dance—go play ball game—
I think little time belong marry. He very good master—have got plenty money."

And, incidentally, amah usually knows if the suitor has money, and if he has nothing but prospects she does everything possible to break up the little romance.

Lots of good-hearted men and women in America are starting schools and libraries and investigations and reforms and things out here, but we wish some philanthropist would endow a beauty parlor.

SENNETT COMEDIANS WILL APPEAR AT T. D. L. TONIGHT

Bud Ross and Dick Smith Will Offer Special Vaudeville in Connection With Picture

There will be a personal attraction tonight at the T. D. & L. theatre of the Mack Sennett comedians, Bud Ross and Dick Smith, offering their special vaudeville comedy act, entitled "Smart Fools." It's a scream from start to finish and, like Fox & Fitcher, the special presentation at the T. D. & L. last week, is a real treat—a real high class, big time vaudeville act—a whole show in themselves. They will appear at 8:45 p. m.

In addition to this special attraction, there will be Grant Rymal, the composer, singing his own popular compositions and on the screen there will be Katherine MacDonald in her latest picture, "Her Social Value."
The entire production makes capital entertainment and the punch at the end is a strong one. It is certainly interpreted by a cast, among which are many who are really stars or leading men and leading women in their own right.

To Avoid Rheumatism, Cultivate Your Corns

LONDON.—If you want to avoid rheumatism or gout, cultivate your corns.

This solace to foot sufferers emanates from T. Gillings, veteran chiropodist, of Fleet street, who has tended the feet of almost every judge, sheriff and lord mayor of London within the past fifty years.

"Corns, bunions and almost all other callosities of the feet are simply nature's wonderful provision for extracting from the human body the chalk that sets up rheumatism and gout," he says.

"The corn," explains Mr. Gillings,
"draws the chalk from the body like a magnet. Invariably when the corn or other callosity ceases to grow the twinges of gout or rheumatism set in."

RUPERT HUGHES NEW PICTURE TO HAVE PREVIEW HERE

Author and Party From Studio to Attend Exhibition at Glendale Theatre

In addition to the Goldwyn production "Grand Larceny," featuring Elliott Dexter and Claire Windsor, there will be a preview of the six-part Rupert Hughes' production "Remembrance," written and directed by Major Hughes, with an all-star cast, including Claude Dillingwater, Patsy Ruth Miller, Kate Lester, Helen Landis and others. It is expected that the entire cast, Mr. Hughes and some thirty from the Goldwyn studios will be present. The preview will go on at about 8:45 p. m.

"Grand Larceny" is a dramatic story well directed and excellently produced. It is one of those pictures that cannot be reviewed in detail without giving away its plot. The larceny is not a theft of property, but of a woman's heart. Go to the Glendale Theatre and see how Claire Windsor proves that in the long run she cannot be stolen by any man because she belongs to herself. There is a real thrill in store for you.

WAR BY GAS IS NOT YET DROPPED BY ENGLAND, CLAIM

Britain Is Busy Perfecting New Deadly Vapors, Despite Arms Treaty, Report

By HARRY L. ROGERS
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON—Great Britain is going ahead with the development of chemical warfare regardless of the sweeping condemnation of poison gas and the treaty prohibiting its use agreed upon at the Arms Conference, it was learned in official quarters recently.

A commission of British Army and Navy experts now in the United States is under instructions to make a thorough study of American methods of making poison gases, with a view to adopting into the British service any improvements which may be discovered.

This commission, which is headed by Colonel M. L. Wilkinson, of the British Army, has just been granted permission by the American War Department to visit the main plant of the Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood, Md., and will be allowed to make a thorough inspection. According to American Army officers, nothing will be kept secret from the commission.

British on Inspection
The Britishers will also visit the Proving Grounds at Aberdeen, Md., the Army Infantry School at Camp Benning, Ga., and the army establishment at Fort Sill, Okla.

One of the members of the commission is Captain J. D. Pratt, of the famous Gordon Highlanders, who is a specialist in chemical warfare and has done much to increase the efficiency of the British gas service. A third member of the commission is Dr. Charles Rotter, of the Admiralty.

The British make no secret of the fact that their government places little dependence upon the resolution against the use of gas adopted at the Arms Conference. They believe it would be foolish for them to place themselves at the mercy of any nation which might in a pinch look upon the poison-gas treaty as a mere scrap of paper. They also point to the fact that there are many more or less powerful nations which have never subscribed to the gas resolution.

Already the British War Office has determined that a gas mask will continue to be a part of the equipment of every British soldier. American Army officers declare, and it is likely that officers and men of the British Navy will be similarly equipped.

Experiment with Gases
At Porton, a few miles from Salisbury, Eng., the British are said to be carrying on exhaustive experiments in the manufacture and use of noxious gases and are endeavoring to perfect protective devices against them. A gas defense school is also in full operation "somewhere in Scotland," Army officers assert.

American gas experts are thoroughly in sympathy with the British attitude and are making every effort to salvage as much as possible of the American Chemical Warfare Service from the wreck they fear the action of the Arms Conference has caused. They believe that the facility with which industrial chemical plants can be converted to the manufacture of poison gas and the difficulty of preventing the development of poison gas in secret make it dangerous for any nation to leave itself unprepared.

The British Commission, headed by Colonel Wilkinson, is also authorized to make a report on the use of tanks and artillery in the army.

NEW YORK.—The ravages of Father Time can be forestalled with proper exercise and diet, declares Mrs. Marguerite Josephine Blair, who, at sixty, refuses to be called a "Mrs. Methuselah."

Rhythmic exercises and a diet of olives, nuts and prunes will rejuvenate women old in years and spirit, asserts Mrs. Blair, who is assistant to Dr. Royal Copeland, New York health commissioner, and his anti-fat squad.

For twenty-five years the "dancing grandma" occupied the chair of domestic art in the University of Minnesota and was national chairman of the home economic section of the Woman's Club. At fifty-five she suffered from rheumatism, was undernourished and had curvature of the spine.

But she got out of bed and danced her way to health.

For an hour each day she dances—to keep the waist slim, strengthen the arches, reduce the hips, make the muscles of the neck firm and the body supple.

Meats she rarely eats. Nuts and uncooked prunes, soaked in water for twenty-four hours; fifteen olives, a quart of milk and a quantity of water—that's her daily diet.

"You'll never have stiff knees if you eat olives and drink lots of water," declares Mrs. Blair.

"How's your heart beating?" inquires Commissioner Copeland. Then he listened to the thumping and pronounced it fine.

"I'll pass you," he declared. "If people would only live right and eat the right kind of food the doctors would be arrested for vagrancy. There isn't a woman in the world eighty years old who couldn't do just as you're doing—if she would."

"I'll never be old," Mrs. Blair countered. "I can reduce ten pounds a week if I get too fat. I hate fat people."

Mrs. Blair is giving two public demonstrations each day so that unhealthy New York women may profit by her exercises and diet.

Teacher Hasn't Right to Kiss His Pupils

LONDON.—The osculatory rights of a university professor have been determined in the London courts. George Joseph Jones, a junior professor of chemistry at the University of London, was dismissed by the board of trustees after it was charged that he had taken Miss Margaret Hughes Brown, one of his pupils, into a dark room at a university dance and kissed her. Jones sued, charging wrongful dismissal. Jones lost.

BOYS IN DUEL TO DEATH

NEW YORK, May 5.—A 16-year-old boy was arraigned in Brooklyn for the killing of a playmate and fellow camper in a grim rifle duel conducted by challenge across a small pond by a pair of frightened but doggedly determined boys. The cause was a spilled can of tomato soup. The accused boy is Victor Janoultich, cook of the camping expedition. The victim was Jacob Kabititz, 19, "captain" of the expedition, whose bitter arraignment of the camp cook for the accidental spilling of the breakfast tin started verbal warfare lasting several hours. Finally a challenge to a duel was issued, accepted, and as neither could thereafter withdraw "with honor," the battle was fought, Indian fashion, with .22 long cartridges until Jacob, in a moment of carelessness, let his head show from behind a tree and received a bullet in the brain.

THEATRE SAFE IS ROBBED

SEDALIA, Mo., May 5.—Four bandits in a large touring car entered the Liberty theatre, slugged and bound two negro watchmen, blew open the safe and escaped with several hundred dollars in cash.

May Greatly Increase Gasoline Production

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5.—Gasoline production will be revolutionized if tests at Washington prove the practicability of processes developed by C. P. Bowie, petroleum engineer, attached to the United States bureau of mines here.

Ten billion gallons of gasoline would be added to the present California output by the utilization of the process, according to experts who have watched it in operation in a plant here.

The process, according to Bowie, will make possible production of immense quantities of gasoline from asphaltum, oil shale, oil waste, tar and "below grade" oil. Bowie said the asphalt streets of San Francisco would furnish enough gasoline if torn up to run all the automobiles in the city a half week.

Discarded refuse from California oil fields has, through the new process, been made to yield 20 per cent of gasoline and 30 per cent of kerosene. His experiments have covered a period of three years.

FOWL TACTICS
Suburbanite: "Thanks for that crate of chickens you sent out, old man, but you ought to bawl out the dealer. The crate was so frail that they all go out when I had to scour the neighborhood for 'em. Even then, I only caught ten."

City Friend: "Shh— I only sent six."

FOLLOWED BY SILENCE
Exasperated Father: "What a boy you are for asking questions. I'd like to know what would have happened if I'd asked as many questions when I was your age."

Young Hopeful: "Maybe you'd have been able to answer some of mine."

BARGAIN HUNTING
Mrs. Newcoin: "I want you to teach my son a foreign language." Language Teacher: "Would you like Polish, Yugoslavonian, Armenian, Czechoslovakian or, perhaps, even Arabic?" Mrs. Newcoin: "Which is the most foreign?"

LOOPING THE LOOP IS NEXT
He said to her, "My love for you is driving me quite mad." She said to him, "How odd. It has the same effect on dad."

Advertising Signs on Highways Protested

Speaking of advertising signs along the highways, A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer of Wisconsin, says:

"Heaven knows there are enough avenues of publicity open to those who wish to sell their goods without making our rural landscapes a futuristic nightmare."

The state and counties can keep advertising off the highway rights of way, but only public opinion, probably, can stop the desecration of the landscape. If an outraged public would boycott advertisers who persist in disfiguring nature with commercial appeals, the practice would soon cease.

Protection of natural beauty should be inculcated at schools, so that the next generation will possess an aesthetic sense that will refuse to countenance such practices, is the opinion expressed by many of those who like to enjoy auto rides without "meeting up" with disfiguring signs.

Mother Sends Boy by Mail; Dad Asks Divorce

ROCKLAND, Maine—Because his wife is alleged to have sent their 4-year-old son by parcel post, Bertie Brodie of Rockport, petitioned for divorce. The divorce was denied by Judge Charles C. Dunn, not because he believed that the mailing incident was not sufficient cause, but because of a technicality in the writ.

The boy, according to the husband's strange plea, was tagged, shipped and rode in the baggage car along with the parcel post and the rest of the mail.

EXCLUSIVE GLENDALE SALES REPRESENTATIVES FOR VERDUGO WOODLANDS, OUR CHOICEST RESIDENTIAL SECTION

Verdugo Woodlands is climatically and artistically the choicest residence property in Southern California, and, at present prices, will be the biggest money-maker. It is only a few years ago Hollywood building sites sold for as low as $1000 to $1500, that are now selling as high as $15,000 to $25,000. Verdugo Woodlands' future is brighter than Hollywood, because the natural beauty is superior and the "movie factory" is absent. We offer a selection of highly desirable home and villa sites at such prices and on such terms as to suit each purse. Also a few choice houses on terms to suit.

Bobbed Hair and Better Phone Service Favored by Girl Candidate for Senate

Miss Pearl Thomas.

By CARL F. HIRSSIG.

TOLEDO, Ohio. — Bobbed hair, bobbed taxes, complete approval of prevailing fashions in woman's dress, vigorous opposition to interference by males in such matters as woman's self-determination, less graft and more work for State employees, better telephone service, justice for war veterans, fewer strikes and more arbitration.

Those are just a few planks that will be included in the platform now being constructed by Miss Pearl Thomas, twenty-three-year-old manicurist of this city, who has set the politicians scratching their shaggy heads over her announced intention of running for the State Senate on the Republican ticket.

Miss Thomas two years ago won first prize in a hotly contested bathing review here.

"Bobbed hair is all right," Miss Thomas told the International News Service correspondent. "And so are short skirts, rolled down stockings, low waists and rouge and powder. I believe in all of them. I bobbed my hair because my head ached from carrying the load. It is just as sensible to have your hair bobbed as it is to have your tonsils or teeth removed or to have your appendix put in a bottle. As for short skirts—do men wear cumbersome clothing? Don't they dress just as comfortably as possible? I've never seen a man letting his morals interfere with his personal comfort!"

"There is no reason why women should not enter politics. Men want them every place else—why not in public office? The only men I've ever heard say that women have no brains are those who are married to women who have enough brains to save sufficient money out of household expenses to buy Christmas presents without demanding additional funds."

"Men treat public office as a joke. They think the minute they take a public job it is part of their work to study the gentle art of 'How to Extract Graft Without Pain.' They aren't responsible. A woman is. Nine out of every ten women when they land a responsible position take their work to heart and give their best. I think women are better savers than men; they have to be because up until now they've had to be content with what man gave them—and in most cases it's been mighty little."

Miss Thomas is serious about her campaign. She says so herself. She isn't just seeking notoriety.

"I've had a good chance to study men—and I like most of them," she said. "They are like little children, though. You can't boss them, but you can coax them. They like to be mothered. They never grow up. They like to be relieved of responsibilities. In fact, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if in another fifty years the men, through sheer relief, would turn over the affairs of the universe to be conducted by women—and I'm almost ready to say that I believe the universe would move along more smoothly under such conditions!"

"I don't believe we can do too much for the boys who went to war. They deserve our fondest appreciation. And I certainly pledge myself to them—I'm for them, bobbed hair, paint, rouge, short skirts and everything!"

And then Miss Thomas smiled, reached for her nail file, took a male voter by the hand and calmly led him into her den of beauty.

Police Chief Fraser Tells of His Plans

Efficient plans to enable local police protection to keep pace with the growth of the community were outlined this morning at the city hall by Colonel J. D. Fraser, chief of police.

"On account of the small number of men on the force," he remarked, "it has been impossible to give the business men the protection which we feel they are entitled to. We are going to have more men. The council has had the further protection of the business men in mind for some time. I hope to get the additional patrolmen in the next couple of weeks. I can't say how many yet. We are going to give the business men thorough protection. You can make that statement as strong as you like."

Colonel Fraser said that as soon as the needed patrolmen were on the job they would be given smaller beats and would be instructed to watch doors, windows and alleys very carefully. He mentioned several establishments where thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise recently been left unguarded through an open door or window carelessly left unlocked.

That the outlying residential districts should be protected as well as the center of town, is the belief of Colonel Fraser. For this reason, motorcycle riders cover both the Casa Verdugo and Grand View districts several times each night. They are followed in some cases by a department Ford with two officers who would be able to capture any disturbers of the peace routed by the motorcycle patrolman.

The efficiency of the motorcycle officer is being emphasized by the city administration owing to the fact that one man on a motorcycle can cover much more territory and do it much quicker than a man on foot. Motorcycles are kept at the city hall at all times for an emergency run.

Regardless of plans for still better protection in the future, neither Colonel Fraser nor Judge F. H. Lowe believe that it would be "healthy" for a band of criminals to make Glendale its rendezvous.

Prize Winners to Be Announced on Monday

Leo Kanner, Al Rosenfeld, S. Gershen and A. Gershen, the owners of the new department store to be started in Glendale in about a week or ten days, wish to thank the women of Glendale for the great interest taken in the naming of the new store. The name of the store, as well as the woman winning the prize of an imported linen table cloth with napkins to match, will be announced in Monday's Evening News. In the meantime workmen are busily engaged night and day in placing fixtures and stock in the new building to be occupied by this establishment. Watch this paper for opening date, the store announces.

Brodie and Clarr In Grocery Business Here

The Foothills Grocery is the successor to Gray & Gray, grocers, at 1227 North Central avenue, near Stocker street, in northern Glendale. It is announced today by Meyer Brodie, manager, who, with I. Clarr, has bought the business. Besides installing some new fixtures they will carry a line of hardware for the convenience of the many patrons of their store. A meat market is run in connection with the store which was Logan's Espesero de Verdugo.

Messrs. Brodie and Clarr come from Hollywood where they have been engaged in similar business. The Grays expect to make a trip to Virginia this summer, the former home of Mr. Gray.

Fresh Fish Every Day, Rock Bottom Market

This is Friday—Fish Day. But A. Ebsen, owner of the Rock Bottom Market, 133 South Central avenue, wonders why people don't eat fish every day.

Especially now that this is the open season for fish. His market is ready to supply all Glendale with fresh fish daily, something quite new in the market line.

HOTEL PROPOSITION AGAIN DISCUSSED BY EASTSIDERS

 be advisable to arrange a meeting for interested parties to discuss the proposition. Mr. Ingledue replied that he thought plenty of property owners would seek him as soon as they learned of the proposed improvement. He added, however, that he did not believe many of them would be averse to meeting their share of the expenses.

To Get Branch Postoffice
 "I think there is a very good chance of getting a branch postoffice in the east part of town," declared Dr. Harrower. "If we don't get it easily, then I will go to Washington and we will get it right away."
 The association should obtain definite information in regard to just what it desires and all details as to cost before presenting the matter to the postoffice department, according to Dr. Harrower.

The electrification of Glendale avenue is now awaiting the approval of certain railway officials in Los Angeles. This report was made by Herman Nelson, chairman of the transportation committee. He stated, however, that the situation looked very promising.

Councilman S. A. Davis asserted that he had recently had an interview with Attorney Harry C. Levey of 811 South Glendale avenue whom he reported as being favorably disposed towards the electrification of the track on Glendale avenue.

Parcel Post Mail Box
 With glee, C. S. Stuart, proprietor of the Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway, reported that Postmaster Ripley D. Jackson had promised the installation of a parcel post mail box this week on the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue.

No action was taken at the last meeting of the Eastside Welfare association towards its amalgamation with the East Glendale Advancement association. P. J. Hayselden of 610 East Broadway stated that he had invited its members to join the organization as individuals and had assured their association that the organization he represented would be glad to co-operate with them in any measure for the good of the east side of Glendale as a whole.

Police protection for Glendale avenue and Broadway came in for considerable good-natured banter. The point involved seemed to be whether C. S. Stuart had a right to expect members of the police department to lock the door of the Glendale Pharmacy when it should be left open by mistake. He was informed that two motorcycle policemen were on duty all night for emergency calls. Mr. Stuart replied that burglars probably wouldn't take the trouble to bellow across the street for them. He inquired if the same motorcycle officers were trailing the "collectors" who "borrowed" about a dozen boxes and a couple of counters from the rear of his lot a short time ago.

Other Complaints
 Comment was made of the fact that the door of Harry MacBain's grocery at 636 East Broadway had been left open during the Christmas holidays and that the first clerk down on Tuesday morning had found a customer in the stall, already. There was also mention of the fact that the Broadway Pharmacy, 400 East Broadway, was left open overnight recently.

"Two years ago there were two men in the police department, a desk sergeant and a patrolman, already," Mr. Davis. "We have more now, but they are not trying doors; they are covering the ground."

"Better discharge the police force," laughed Mayor Robinson. "Don't need it—perfect town!"

Those in Attendance
 President Ingledue declared that he was well pleased with the progress of the organization, but suggested that a thousand property owners on the east side ought to affiliate with the association.

Besides those already mentioned the following were present: W. H. Hyde, Mrs. W. C. Fraley, James Howarth, S. C. Kinch, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lampert, C. U. Mandis, Henry Merz, J. L. S. Perch, W. H. Reeves, William Sapir, J. K. Todd, W. R. Vanderwood, W. W. Welch, Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, H. V. Steele, Maurice Hartmann, F. L. Fox, T. H. Addison, J. Addison, C. D. Crist, W. L. Truitt, W. E. Mercer, James Webb, J. H. Folz, C. Fischer, R. M. Brown, O. W. Tarr and Charles E. Stanley.

As a measure of appreciation the association voted to return for its weekly luncheon to Ye White Inn.

Smell of Blood Sets Bull on Wild Rampage

MEDINA, Ohio.—A bull, which escaped from the L. May slaughter house, near Akron, went on a rampage after smelling the blood of a butchered companion.

It gored three dogs, snapped off a hundred or more saplings and broke down three barbed-wire and two rail fences.

Deputy Sheriffs Scotty Ingerton and Edward Hatch worked over two hours before they subdued and then killed the bull. The animal didn't die until after three shots had been fired into it.

 Bandits Busy in Mexico
 All the Same, But Different Orators, Band 'n Everything
 Police Win Commendation
 By Gil A. Cowan

BANDITS in Mexico again are getting due publicity. How they have been subdued for so many months seems remarkable, in view of the troublous years past.

Troops and Red Cross responded to the call of the railroad which had its train blown up, survivors shot and their persons looted.

May the Mexican government deal severely with lawlessness and show officials in the United States of America that it is a country more than worthy of recognition.

School publications have been faring badly recently.

Among others to be suppressed was the "flapper" edition of the "Sundodger," University of Washington.

Student publishers are said to have overstepped the bounds of propriety, whatever that may be.

So different it seems to read in the annual of the Glendale Academy stories which are captioned: "Onward and Upward," "The Influence of Good Music," "To My Mother."

Yet the youngsters at the Glendale Academy and those at the University of Washington are Americans, one and the same. They play ball, have their fun, and enjoy life equally as well.

Among the pictures of the local annual you will see one of the teacher and his wife in fond embrace over the caption, "Happy Tho' Married."

Maybe some poor spouse will want to censor that.

Tonight the general public will have an opportunity to hear several high school students express themselves.

It is the annual oratorical contest and in order to accommodate the crowds of cheering pupils, the event will be held on the athletic field.

There the youthful Patrick Henry and the pretty Sylvia Pankhurst will be afforded the opportunity of speaking to the stars or being drowned in the fog.

The high school band is announced as an added attraction.

How uncertain life seems. A mechanic standing at his shop window here happened to move. The next thing he knew a bullet crashed through the glass.

Had he not moved, there is every probability there would have been a death in the family.

Which would indicate two things: Don't play with guns, and keep moving.

There are compensations in progress.

Speaking of progress stirs another comment.

Prosperous Glendale must keep moving. Where there is action there is life. Where there is life there is hope, etcetera.

There are so many big questions to be tackled that the people are prone to sit about and let George decide as to what must next be done.

Or, maybe everybody is too busy, and so is George.

Yes, they're busy even when fishing.

Four commendations within a week by public who have found it necessary to call the police.

Pretty good record, that. If everyone who found the police efficient would report it, the morale of the organization would "buck up" a bit.

Why, if you go into the postoffice this week you will find a smile, a handshake and punch in a bottle awaiting you.

The postoffice employees and the public are getting on good terms. So it should be with the people and the police, whose job is to help, not hinder; to serve, not to intimidate.

Did you ever think of it that way?

Arrange Program for Conference Next Week

"Much interest is being shown in the annual Southern California Victorious Life conference which will meet in the Presbyterian church from May 7 to 14 inclusive," today stated Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Presbyterian church. Copies of the programs have been broadcasted over southern California and many requests are coming in for copies of it.

The program as outlined will be as follows:

Sunday, May 7: 11 a. m. Sermon by Dr. A. J. Ramsey of Pasadena. 3 p. m. Mass meeting. Topic: "What Is the Message of Victory in Christ?"

6:15 p. m. Special Young People's Meeting.

7:30 p. m. Evening service. Sermon by Rev. Robert C. McQuilkin of Philadelphia.

Monday to Saturday, inclusive: 3 p. m. Bible study. Dr. A. J. Ramsey.

4 p. m. Christian Life Problems—Rev. R. C. McQuilkin.

7:30 p. m. Topics to be announced.

Sunday, May 13: 11 a. m. Morning Service. Sermon by Rev. R. C. McQuilkin.

3 p. m. Mass Meeting. Topic: "The Second Coming of Christ in Relation to a Life of Victory."

7:30 p. m. Closing Messages.

Dr. A. J. Ramsey is a Bible student and teacher of wide reputation and will be heard with pleasure by many who have heard him in other conferences. At the 4 o'clock hour Rev. R. C. McQuilkin will conduct a study in Christian life problems.

ANNUAL JINX NIGHT AT ELKS LODGE IS LARGE SUCCESS

Record Crowd in Attendance and Entertainment Proves Satisfying to All

An attendance of approximately 800 Elks, members of both Glendale and other southern California lodges, was present last night at the local club house when the newly installed "jinx" committee staged their annual spring jinx and entertainment. The crowd was one of the largest that ever crowded its way into the local lodge room, several hundred having to stand around the hall during a large part of the evening.

The program was begun at 8 o'clock when the club's new band, which was recently organized under the leadership of R. E. Kenny, entertained with a short concert. Drummajor Graham then held the interest of the audience with a clever baton wielding exhibition, being accompanied by the band.

The event on the program which was supposed to have been the feature of the evening was previously announced as being a wrestling bout between Young Hackensmidt of this city and Bull Montana, well-known motion picture and athletic star. At the last moment, however, Montana sent word that he had been suddenly called to New York and that it would be impossible for him to appear for the match.

Exhibition Wrestling

In place of the scheduled bout Hackensmidt, who is recognized as one of the Pacific coast's leading heavyweight grapplers, gave a thirty minute exhibition of the mat sport with "Powerful" Powers of Burbank. Although the Glendallian could have easily pinned his younger opponent's shoulders to the mat on several occasions, the bout was far from being a farce, Hackensmidt displaying a number of clever tricks both from an aggressive as well as from a defensive standpoint.

William "Bill" Bode, all-around musician and a resident of this city, then entertained with several excellently rendered saxophone solos. He was accompanied on the piano by Herb Henning, well known "jazz" artist.

The "Bills" were then treated to a card of three scheduled four-round boxing matches, a regulation ring having been constructed in the center of the main lodge room. In the main event, which was a lightweight battle between "Smoky Streak" Alexander, dusky Los Angeles mauler, and Eddie Burns, furnished the thrill of the evening when Alexander put the less aggressive Burns to sleep after two minutes of fighting in the first round.

Ends With Knockout

It was apparent from the beginning that the colored battler was waiting for his opponent to lead out with his right, and when Burns finally fell into the trap he immediately received a wallop on the chin that sent him to the floor for the count of nine. Upon resuming the bout Alexander started in where he had left off, ending the bout with a right-handed swing to the susceptible chin.

In the first preliminary event Joe Gomez and Joe Medina fought a fast four-round draw at 128 pounds. Both boxers showed flashes of form, but neither was able to rise to the occasion when a knockout seemed inevitable. Had Gomez possessed anything in his left arm he would have ended the bout before it was half over.

Jack McAuliffe and "Lucky" Luge, boxing at 145 pounds, then boxed four fast rounds, the decision being given to McAuliffe by a narrow margin. Harry McCartney of this city refereed the matches.

And Then Battle Royal

Following the boxing bouts the evening's feature event was staged when four members of the Los Angeles Newsboys' club were put into the ring in a "battle royal."

Unlike most similar events, in which the principals fall at the slightest pretense, the nervy little "newsies" were in the ring to win, and there was no letup in the excitement from start to finish. Fighting for all they were worth they were given the closing bell after a half hour of strenuous milling, with all four of the entrants still "going strong."

The members then adjourned to the basement banquet hall, where they enjoyed several courses of refreshments.

Raise Flag In Honor Of Mother, Is Ordered

In the Postal Bulletin received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, Hubert Work, postmaster general, orders that flags be raised to the Mothers of America on Sunday, May 14. In a quotation on Postal Improvement week, President Harding says: "Do not ever believe you are injuring yourself by giving full return for your employment. Do not scale down to the level of the inefficient and the incapable. Let us train up and build up to the heights of the efficient."

DENIES LOAN TO GERMANY

NEW YORK, May 5.—J. P. Morgan & Company has announced that the banking house has no intention of arranging an American loan to enable Germany to make an immediate or a deferred reparation payment. It was expected, however, that a loan for the purpose of aiding in Germany's economic reconstruction was another matter, though no definite steps have been taken in that direction. J. P. Morgan will sail for Europe within two weeks, it was said.
